THIRTEEN MORE LOUISIANA PARISHES IN PERIL

INHABITED BY MORE THAN 300,000 PERSONS

CREST OF MISSISSIPPI FLOOD IS NOW SWEEPING SOUTHWARD

ENGINEERS BELIEVE DIKES CANNOT WITHSTAND AWFUL PRESSURE

By ALFRED P. RECK
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New Orleans, La., May 5.—Thirteen additional Louisiana parishes, in the southern part of the state, inhabited by more than 300,000 persons, provided new danger points in the flood area today.

The crest of the Mississippi river, after inundating parishes in the north, as far west as the Ouachita river, is sweeping southward and engineers believe the dikes cannot hold the flood from territory lying between the big stream and the Atchafalya river.

Judging by the force of the flood which has snapped levees as the crest advanced, engineers believe nothing can hold the dike at Big Bend, above Simmesport. If a break occurs there practically all of the southern parishes on the west bank will be inundated by the Mississippi, the Red river and Bayou Desglaises, engineers believe.

Inundation of these parishes would bring the total water-covered area in the south to between 17,000 and 18,000 square miles. The number of homeless would be swelled to more than half a million.

Official warning of approach of danger to the south central section of the state was given by Dr. I. M. Cline, chief of the weather bureau for this section.

All persons residing south of Old river were advised to make preparations to protect lives and property against the impending floods.

Meanwhile, authorities concentrated on rescuing 14,000 persons marooned on high ground in Tensas Parish by the northern Louisiana floods. They refused to leave their homes when warned of the rise of the river and their homes were cut off. All will have to be removed to boats.

Rescue boats from Vicksburg, Natchez and as far south as Baton Rouge worked throughout last night and today bringing the Tensas victims to comparative safety. River steamers acted as mother ships to scores of smaller craft.

The newest gaps in the northern Louisiana flood area are approximately 10 miles above and 10 miles below St. Joseph, a community of 3,000 persons. Break at Winter Quarter came unexpectedly when a sudden wind shifted the river against the levee and washed sandbags over for a distance of 150 feet.

Within a short time, the break had doubled in width and Tensas Parish was doomed. Three hours later, the water was approaching St. Joseph, Newellton and Waterproof.

Territory to the north and west was already flooded and offered no refuge. Residents had to run for the levees and ridges, the only high spots in the neighborhood, and huddled there in a driving rain, awaiting rescue.

Tallulah, Madison Parish, hit by the first northern Louisiana break at Milliken Bend, today was under 10 to 20 feet of water.

Approximately 3,000 refugees from this area are being cared for at Delhi and many others are camped nearby. Supplies ae being sent them by boat.

Human beings, domestic stock and wild animals from Merrouge have been driven to Mason Ridge by the fury of the flood. Merrouge has never been flooded before in history. It is now completely evacuated.

The entire northeast section of some 3,000 square miles is utterly desolate.

Vicksburg, Miss., May 5. — The crest of the Mississippi river flood has passed Vicksburg, engineers announced today.

All danger of new levee breaks to the north had gone and the real battle shifts to the south.

Flood waters were being sucked into the lowlands of northeastern Louisiana today through the vast crevasse at Milliken Bend, northwest of here, and at Winter Quarter, 20 miles south.

Airplanes reported the break at the Bend was more than 400 feet wide. The Winter Quarter break, just above the city of St. Joseph, was rapidly widening to 300 feet, filling Lake St. Joseph.

There was no drama in the spread of the muddy tide over these eastern Louisiana parishes to inundate approximately 5,000 square miles of farm land.

The lands are level and low so the flood spread, crept over the countryside.

At Delta, La., opposite here, was a typical scene. Delta lies 15 miles below the present level of the river and down through the backlands the flow from the break filled the town at the rate of an inch an hour.

Water puddled up the crossroads, gently but ominously.

Tomorrow it will be higher, but it will be a week before the town of a hundred houses is completely covered, as it is certain to be, according to Maj. John C. H. Lee, United States district engineer.

Tallulah, west of Delta, and more in the direct path of the Milliken Bend break, was filling more rapidly with 10 feet of water already on the main street.

The river steamer Vicksburg, which grounded on top of the old levee at Duckport while on rescue work yesterday, was pulled off and floated last night.

Mississippi river skippers have been most prominent in the rescue work, pushing their big stern-wheelers over former meadow land, picket fences and through small willow forests.

Many of them have been offended by the apparent apathy on the part of some Louisians to be rescued.

Capt. Harris Clifford of the Vicksburg steamed up and down Louisiana levees yesterday, trying to find someone who wanted to be rescued.

Negroes sat composed atop bundles of clothes or household effects on the levee, and when asked if they wanted to be taken off, yelled back, "No, Sir, no, Sir."

Many Louisiana farmers hurried out of the lowlands in their cars when news of the break came. Their negro help folowed along on mule wagons. When they arrived on the levee they looked around and the expected avalanche of water was absent. So many of them turned about and went back for their household goods.

As the waters continue rising over the farm lands to depths of 10 to 20 feet they probably will be ready to leave, although the Red Cross is prepared to feed all those staying near their homes. Long tented villages dot the levee on the west bank of the river and many plantation owners plan to keep their farm labor on the embankment nearby until it is possible to return to their homes.

One case of typhoid fever was discovered in a refugee camp here and Dr. J. E. Black of the state board of health advised all citizens to be inoculated.

---

Monroe, La., May 5. — The levee protecting Rayville from the Arkansas river overflow broke today and water began to rush into the negro section of the town.

The entire town will be covered before tomorrow, it was expected.

SAID LEVEES WERE BELOW STANDARD

Rock Island, Ill., May 5. — The levees on the lower Mississippi river, which broke, flooding the southern valley of the river, were without exception below government standard, Maj. B. C. Dunn, U. S. officer, told the United Press in an exclusive interview today. Maj. Dunn is the officer in charge of the Rock Island district engineers from St. Paul to St. Louis.

"Bigger and better levees are needed," he charged. "Those which broke were, without exception, far below governmental standards, as applied to those being constructed with the $10,000,000 annual appropriation made by congress for flood control in the lower river.

"The new type levees," he said, "have withstood the present rise at its worst and will continue to do so."

These levees, the major explained, are 100 feet thick at their base, and extend three feet higher than the highest known flood stage.

"As these come to replace the smaller, older ones—built many years ago, flood danger will decrease until it is finally quelled."

The rising of the water is a "freak of nature," brought about by the simultaneous rising of many tributaries—rather than deforestation of the northwest or other factors held to blame for the deluge, he added.

U. S. Has No Intention of Cancelling War Debts

OR MODIFYING SETTLEMENTS OF SUCH DEBTS

WINSTON CHURCHILL'S CRITICISMS FAIL TO HAVE EFFECT

SECRETARY KELLOGG SENDS A TERSE NOTE TO BRITISH FOREIGN OFFICE

By JOSEPH S. WASNEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, May 5.—The United States has no intention now, or any other time, of cancelling its war debt settlements, it was made plain today.

Winston Churchill's criticism of a letter Secretary of the Treasury Mellon recently sent to President John G. Hibben of Princeton University, outlining the administration's debt policies, failed of its purpose if that purpose was to reopen debt negotiations with America.

Secretary of State Kellogg sent the following terse note to the British foreign office:

"The government regards the correspondence between Mr. Mellon and Mr. Hibben as a purely domestic discussion, and does not desire to engage in any formal diplomatic exchanges upon the subject."

And Secretary Mellon, whose figures were under fire, declared in a statement that all debt agreements were fair and no terms were so harsh as to become a serious economic burden on nations that had borrowed from America.

Great Britain calculates her war debt differently from methods used by the treasury in that she excludes war stocks debts from the term "allied war debts," Mellon said. When similar methods are used the totals arrived at by both countries are identical, he added.

"Again," he said, "there is bound to be disagreement when the American treasury department, in discussing payments received from Germany, includes all payments, while the British government in answer confirms itself to payments strictly on account of reparations and Belgian war debt.

"Under such circumstances there is not a disagreement as to facts; there is simply a failure to join issue."

NEW ALTITUDE RECORD FOR AIRCRAFT MADE

CAPT. HAWTHORN C. GRAY REGISTERS 41,000 FEET

MAKES ASCENT OF ALMOST 8 MILES IN FREE BALLOON

St. Louis, Mo., May 5.—(UP)—A new altitude record for all varieties of aircraft was believed today to have been established by Captain Hawthorn C. Gray whose instruments registered 41,000 feet, almost eight miles, after an ascent in a free balloon yesterday.

The previous record, according to officers at Scott Field, where Captain Gray is stationed, was 39,800 feet, credited to a French aviator. Gray's altimeter and other instruments have been sent to the bureau of standards at Washington for official reading.

Gray took off from Scott Field early yesterday afternoon and landed at Golden Gate, Ill., 120 miles distant. He was back at Scott Field at 5:25 yesterday evening for examination by physicians. Major C. W. Cummings said his condition showed he had reached the approximate limit of human endurance in rarified atmosphere.

The balloonist descended in a parachute at 8,000 feet because it was descending too rapidly. The balloon landed at Grayville, Ill. On a previous attempt to break the altitude record, Gray collapsed at 35,400 feet and descended all the way in the balloon.

Gray said his worst discomfort during the flight was an intense pain in the chest which increased as his altitude became greater. He breathed from oxygen tanks when his balloon passed 18,000 feet. All his ballast had been cast off when he reached the pinnacle of the flight and started releasing gas to descend.

LITTLE ROCK UNDER MARTIAL LAW TODAY

FOLLOWING LYNCHING YESTERDAY OF JOHN CARTER

22 YEAR NEGRO CHARGED WITH ATTACKING WHITE WOMAN

Little Rock, Ark., May 5.—(UP)—The Pulaski county grand jury today prepared to make a thorough investigation of the lynching yetserday of John Carter, negro, as members of the Arkansas National Guard took charge of the city.

Troops were patrolling the streets today, guarding the negro section and refusing entrance of white persons to that out section of the city where Carter's body was burned.

A mob of 400 persons seized Carter near the city yesterday, wrung a confession from him that he had assaulted Mrs. B. E. Stewart and her daughter Glennie and hanged the negro to a telephone pole. The body was riddled with bullets, tied behind an automobile and dragged nine miles to Little Rock.

There the bleeding corpse was dragged through the principal business section of the negro belt and burned in the heart of the black district. The mob stormed through the section, threatening violence to colored residents. At midnight, all was quiet, though there was still a large crowd down town.

Gordon N. Peay, foreman of the Pulaski county grand jury, declared emphatically that a thorough investigation of the affair would be made.

"I am making no prediction as to whether we shall indict any members of the mob," he told the United Press, "but you can say we shall go thoroughly into this lynching when we meet this afternoon."

The city was in charge of battery H., 206th coast Artillery, Arkansas National Guards, today, with Gov. Martineau on hand to direct activities should another outbreak occur.

Little Rock, Ark., May 5.—(UP)—Little Rock is under martial law today and in constant fear of riot, following the lynching yesterday of John Carter, 22-year-old negro, who attacked and beat a white woman near here.

Threats against other negroes were heard on all sides today as citizens gathered in small groups discussing the attack and the hanging of Carter. Rage flared forth into action yesterday when word of the attack on Mrs. B. E. Stewart and her daughter, Glennine was received.

Nearly 400 persons assembled in the negro section of the city, dragged Carter forth, confronted him with the father and husband of the two women and wrung a confession from him. Carter was taken to a tree near his home and hanged, and his body then burned.

A near riot followed in which another negro was shot and seriously wounded. Threats were made against another negro. Police were outnumbered and could only stand aside as the incensed mob took its vengeance.

A hurry call was dispatched to Gov. Martineau at Van Buren who ordered troops sent immediately to Little Rock, himself arriving here early this morning.

Mrs. Stewart and her daughter were accosted as they were driving along a road near Little Rock yesterday morning. A negro threatened them and beat Mrs. Stewart, breaking her arm and injuring her about the head.

Little Rock, Ark., May 5.—Trial of Lonnie Dixon, 16-year-old negro, who confessed to the murder of an 11-year-old white girl here, has been set for May 19.

The body of Floella McDonald was found here last Saturday in the belfry of the First Presbyterian church, battered beyond recognition and identified by the clothing the child wore. Floella disappeared from her home here April 12.

It was suggested today that a reward offered for finding of the girl be paid to members of her family. Dixon's father discovered the body in the church. He is being held in jail in connection with the murder and according to officials is not entitled to the reward.

NO DRASTIC ACTION OF POWERS AT NANKING

LEAGUE OF NATIONS ECONOMIC CONFERENCE AWAITS THE AMERICAN NOTE

U. S. REPRESENTED BY DISTINGUISHED BOARD OF FOUR MEN

Washington, May 5.—(UP)—The United States government understands Great Britain, France, Japan and Italy have accepted the American view that no drastic action should be taken by the powers in China in connection with the Nanking outrages, state department officials said today.

Following this government's decision not to join in another identic note of demands to the nationalists at this time, it is understood the other powers have now rejected the alternative plan for the four powers without the United States.

Peking, May 5.—The 15 Russians held by Chinese authorities pending trial on charges of actfvities subversive to the Peking government have gone on a hunger strike, Russian consular officials were informed today.

The 15 persons were arrested when Chinese police raided Soviet embassy property several weeks ago. Several Chinese captured at the time have been executed.

Geneva, May 5—The United States still was to be heard from on the second day of the League of Nations international economic conference which has convened here to find means for removal of barriers to trade.

Henry M. Robinson, of Los Angeles, Norman, H. Davis, former assistant secretary of the treasury, John W. O'Leary, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, Alonzeo E. Taylor, director of the food research institute of Leland Stanford University, and Julius Klein, director of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, are the American representatives in the conference, which included representatives virtually of the entire world.

A woman, Mme. Emmi Freundlich, of Austria, president of the International League of Co-operative Associations, caused the first excitement of the meeting when she attacked international trusts and cartels. The formation of such groups is one of the projects the conference hopes to foster.

"International trusts and cartels," said Mme. Freundlich, "are only tentative experiments to organize the market and to distribute the world's products. But, they always are a serious danger because with competition stifled they tend to establish a monopoly of prices which would threaten the consumers' standard of living. They are only justified when they represent not only the rich but the economic interests of the entire nation. The 52,000,000 consumers my organization represents will fight for both national and international control of prices in the interests of the consumer."

CAPT. SAINT ROMAN HOPS OFF FOR BRAZIL

St. Louis, Senegal, West Africa, May 5.—(UP)—Captain Saint Roman started at 6:25 a. m. today on a non-stop flight across the south Atlantic ocean to Brazil.

The giant Goliath plane in which the French aviator and his companions departed had been transformed from a seaplane into a land plane during a halt in the flight down the west African coast to this place. Many veteran airmen expressed doubt of the advisability of attempting the long flight in a machine which never could arise from the surface of the sea in the event of a forced land.

Sanction of the French government for the flight was withdrawn owing to the substitution of wheels for floats beneath the plane and several members of the original crew withdrew from the project.

Saint Roman's flight began last month at Marseilles and is to end, if good luck attends him, at Buenos Aires. Many mishaps have delayed the flier's progress. During Easter week end at Casa Blanca, Morocco, an effort to take off resulted in damage to the floats and the incident caused Saint Roman to substitute wheels. Wireless trouble further delayed the plane and extra gasoline tanks obtained after the removal of the floats proved faulty and had to be replaced with others.

The south Atlantic never has been crossed without a stop. Ramon Franco, Spanish airman, and Francesco de Pinedo, Italian, stopped at islands en route. A Portugese attempt to fly from the Cape Verde islands, off the West African coast, to Brazil failed last month when the seaplane was forced down off the island of Fernando Noronha.

QUICKLY SUBSCRIBE TO 10,000 LAKES BODY CAMPAIGN

St. Paul, May 5.—(UP)—Nearly one-third of the communities in Minnesota raising funds for the $50,000 advertising campaign of the Ten Thousand Lakes association this week have oversubscribed their quotas, officials announced today.

Onamia, Isle and Wahkon, all on the shore of Mille Lacs lake, were added to the list today. Many other towns reported nearing their goal.

The money is to be spent in spreading the gospel of the advantages of Minnesota for tourists. The association officials predict a record breaking tourist business for Minnesota this summer, based on more than a hundred inquiries being received from outside the state each day.

NATIONAL BISCUIT CO. STOCK ENJOYS REAL PROSPERITY

New York, May 5.—(UP)—Stock of the National Biscuit company, not the kind of a stock that can be jockeyed up and down violently by speculators, is enjoying a boom in Wall street which carried it today to $124.75 compared with the low of the year of $91.75.

Although unfounded rumors in the street said National Biscuit would soon take over the Purity bakeries, another unofficial explanation said a stock dividend or an increase in the cash dividend might be declared soon. The company's earnings this year may show a great increase due to realization of profits on the millions spent for new plants.

STRAIN TELLS ON BOY LIVING WITH CAVED LUNGS

Roanoke, Va., May 5.—(UP)—The strain of living with collapsed lungs was telling on Walter L. Booth today in a way that made his friends fear the worst. His appetite was failing.

Previously Walter had managed to smoke cigarettes and nibble at dainties held to his mouth while physicians injected concentrated food.

Today it was almost noon before he asked for a "puff" or sampled the breakfast food brought to him.

Doctors say there has been no change for the better since Walter underwent two days ago his second operation to adjust the injured vertebra affecting his lungs.

"It is only a matter of time before the end," they declare. And Walter's friends, hitherto buoyant, remain silent as they see the 18-year-old farm boy's food going almost untouched.

Gray took off from Scott Field early yesterday afternoon and landed at Golden Gate, Ill., 120 miles distant. He was back at Scott Field at 5:25 yesterday evening for examination by physicians. Major C. W. Cummings said his condition showed he had reached the approximate limit of human endurance in rarified atmosphere.

The balloonist descended in a parachute at 8,000 feet because it was descending too rapidly. The balloon landed at Grayville, Ill. On a previous attempt to break the altitude record, Gray collapsed at 35,400 feet and descended all the way in the balloon.

Gray said his worst discomfort during the flight was an intense pain in the chest which increased as his altitude became greater. He breathed from oxygen tanks when his balloon passed 18,000 feet. All his ballast had been cast off when he reached the pinnacle of the flight and started releasing gas to descend.

FOLLOWING LYNCHING YESTERDAY OF JOHN CARTER

22 YEAR NEGRO CHARGED WITH ATTACKING WHITE WOMAN

Little Rock, Ark., May 5.—(UP)—The Pulaski county grand jury today prepared to make a thorough investigation of the lynching yetserday of John Carter, negro, as members of the Arkansas National Guard took charge of the city.

Troops were patrolling the streets today, guarding the negro section and refusing entrance of white persons to that out section of the city where Carter's body was burned.

A mob of 400 persons seized Carter near the city yesterday, wrung a confession from him that he had assaulted Mrs. B. E. Stewart and her daughter Glennie and hanged the negro to a telephone pole. The body was riddled with bullets, tied behind an automobile and dragged nine miles to Little Rock.

There the bleeding corpse was dragged through the principal business section of the negro belt and burned in the heart of the black district. The mob stormed through the section, threatening violence to colored residents. At midnight, all was quiet, though there was still a large crowd down town.

Gordon N. Peay, foreman of the Pulaski county grand jury, declared emphatically that a thorough investigation of the affair would be made.

"I am making no prediction as to whether we shall indict any members of the mob," he told the United Press, "but you can say we shall go thoroughly into this lynching when we meet this afternoon."

The city was in charge of battery H., 206th coast Artillery, Arkansas National Guards, today, with Gov. Martineau on hand to direct activities should another outbreak occur.

Little Rock, Ark., May 5.—(UP)—Little Rock is under martial law today and in constant fear of riot, following the lynching yesterday of John Carter, 22-year-old negro, who attacked and beat a white woman near here.

Threats against other negroes were heard on all sides today as citizens gathered in small groups discussing the attack and the hanging of Carter. Rage flared forth into action yesterday when word of the attack on Mrs. B. E. Stewart and her daughter, Glennine was received.

Nearly 400 persons assembled in the negro section of the city, dragged Carter forth, confronted him with the father and husband of the two women and wrung a confession from him. Carter was taken to a tree near his home and hanged, and his body then burned.

A near riot followed in which another negro was shot and seriously wounded. Threats were made against another negro. Police were outnumbered and could only stand aside as the incensed mob took its vengeance.

A hurry call was dispatched to Gov. Martineau at Van Buren who ordered troops sent immediately to Little Rock, himself arriving here early this morning.

Mrs. Stewart and her daughter were accosted as they were driving along a road near Little Rock yesterday morning. A negro threatened them and beat Mrs. Stewart, breaking her arm and injuring her about the head.

Little Rock, Ark., May 5.—Trial of Lonnie Dixon, 16-year-old negro, who confessed to the murder of an 11-year-old white girl here, has been set for May 19.

The body of Floella McDonald was found here last Saturday in the belfry of the First Presbyterian church, battered beyond recognition and identified by the clothing the child wore. Floella disappeared from her home here April 12.

It was suggested today that a reward offered for finding of the girl be paid to members of her family. Dixon's father discovered the body in the church. He is being held in jail in connection with the murder and according to officials is not entitled to the reward.

NO DRASTIC ACTION OF POWERS AT NANKING

LEAGUE OF NATIONS ECONOMIC CONFERENCE AWAITS THE AMERICAN NOTE

U. S. REPRESENTED BY DISTINGUISHED BOARD OF FOUR MEN

Washington, May 5.—(UP)—The United States government understands Great Britain, France, Japan and Italy have accepted the American view that no drastic action should be taken by the powers in China in connection with the Nanking outrages, state department officials said today.

Following this government's decision not to join in another identic note of demands to the nationalists at this time, it is understood the other powers have now rejected the alternative plan for the four powers without the United States.

Peking, May 5.—The 15 Russians held by Chinese authorities pending trial on charges of actfvities subversive to the Peking government have gone on a hunger strike, Russian consular officials were informed today.

The 15 persons were arrested when Chinese police raided Soviet embassy property several weeks ago. Several Chinese captured at the time have been executed.

Geneva, May 5—The United States still was to be heard from on the second day of the League of Nations international economic conference which has convened here to find means for removal of barriers to trade.

Henry M. Robinson, of Los Angeles, Norman, H. Davis, former assistant secretary of the treasury, John W. O'Leary, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, Alonzeo E. Taylor, director of the food research institute of Leland Stanford University, and Julius Klein, director of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, are the American representatives in the conference, which included representatives virtually of the entire world.

A woman, Mme. Emmi Freundlich, of Austria, president of the International League of Co-operative Associations, caused the first excitement of the meeting when she attacked international trusts and cartels. The formation of such groups is one of the projects the conference hopes to foster.

"International trusts and cartels," said Mme. Freundlich, "are only tentative experiments to organize the market and to distribute the world's products. But, they always are a serious danger because with competition stifled they tend to establish a monopoly of prices which would threaten the consumers' standard of living. They are only justified when they represent not only the rich but the economic interests of the entire nation. The 52,000,000 consumers my organization represents will fight for both national and international control of prices in the interests of the consumer."

CAPT. SAINT ROMAN HOPS OFF FOR BRAZIL

St. Louis, Senegal, West Africa, May 5.—(UP)—Captain Saint Roman started at 6:25 a. m. today on a non-stop flight across the south Atlantic ocean to Brazil.

The giant Goliath plane in which the French aviator and his companions departed had been transformed from a seaplane into a land plane during a halt in the flight down the west African coast to this place. Many veteran airmen expressed doubt of the advisability of attempting the long flight in a machine which never could arise from the surface of the sea in the event of a forced land.

Sanction of the French government for the flight was withdrawn owing to the substitution of wheels for floats beneath the plane and several members of the original crew withdrew from the project.

Saint Roman's flight began last month at Marseilles and is to end, if good luck attends him, at Buenos Aires. Many mishaps have delayed the flier's progress. During Easter week end at Casa Blanca, Morocco, an effort to take off resulted in damage to the floats and the incident caused Saint Roman to substitute wheels. Wireless trouble further delayed the plane and extra gasoline tanks obtained after the removal of the floats proved faulty and had to be replaced with others.

The south Atlantic never has been crossed without a stop. Ramon Franco, Spanish airman, and Francesco de Pinedo, Italian, stopped at islands en route. A Portugese attempt to fly from the Cape Verde islands, off the West African coast, to Brazil failed last month when the seaplane was forced down off the island of Fernando Noronha.

QUICKLY SUBSCRIBE TO 10,000 LAKES BODY CAMPAIGN

St. Paul, May 5.—(UP)—Nearly one-third of the communities in Minnesota raising funds for the $50,000 advertising campaign of the Ten Thousand Lakes association this week have oversubscribed their quotas, officials announced today.

Onamia, Isle and Wahkon, all on the shore of Mille Lacs lake, were added to the list today. Many other towns reported nearing their goal.

The money is to be spent in spreading the gospel of the advantages of Minnesota for tourists. The association officials predict a record breaking tourist business for Minnesota this summer, based on more than a hundred inquiries being received from outside the state each day.

DULUTHIAN IS ACQUITTED OF ALLEGED SHOOTING

Duluth, Minn., May 5.—(UP)—The St. Louis county grand jury late yesterday acquitted Walter A. Mack, 44, car repairman, of charges of killing Arthur C. Campbell, 30, March 15. A no true bill was returned after 45 minutes deliberation.

The shooting was alleged to have taken place because of intimacy between the victim and Mack's wife.

$7,183,548 NOW GAINED FOR FLOOD RELIEF

Washington, May 5.—(UP)—The Red Cross flood relief fund reached $7,183,548 this morning, an increase of nearly $1,000,000 over night, national headquarters announced.

NATIONAL BISCUIT CO. STOCK ENJOYS REAL PROSPERITY

New York, May 5.—(UP)—Stock of the National Biscuit company, not the kind of a stock that can be jockeyed up and down violently by speculators, is enjoying a boom in Wall street which carried it today to $124.75 compared with the low of the year of $91.75.

Although unfounded rumors in the street said National Biscuit would soon take over the Purity bakeries, another unofficial explanation said a stock dividend or an increase in the cash dividend might be declared soon. The company's earnings this year may show a great increase due to realization of profits on the millions spent for new plants.

STRAIN TELLS ON BOY LIVING WITH CAVED LUNGS

Roanoke, Va., May 5.—(UP)—The strain of living with collapsed lungs was telling on Walter L. Booth today in a way that made his friends fear the worst. His appetite was failing.

Previously Walter had managed to smoke cigarettes and nibble at dainties held to his mouth while physicians injected concentrated food.

Today it was almost noon before he asked for a "puff" or sampled the breakfast food brought to him.

Doctors say there has been no change for the better since Walter underwent two days ago his second operation to adjust the injured vertebra affecting his lungs.

"It is only a matter of time before the end," they declare. And Walter's friends, hitherto buoyant, remain silent as they see the 18-year-old farm boy's food going almost untouched.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

For the past two years we have been trying to retire from business but at the end of each attempt we found ourselves with a great amount of goods unsold. We are not sure that fate was not kind to us after all, because after inquiring about business conditions in forty cities in all parts of the United States, in view of starting in business, we find that Brainerd is as good and in many cases better than other cities that we had heard from. The cities reporting the poorest conditions were cities where banks had failed.

Right here I want to say the answers we received from our inquiries have proven to us that we have two of the best managed and soundest banks in the country. This alone assures the success of Brainerd because without well managed and sound banking institutions our whole foundation as a city is impaired.

So with this assurance we start the spring business with a new hope and we are going ahead and do the very best we can to the end.

And if at the end we come out all right, what anyone thinks or what anyone says will make no difference. And if at the end we come out all wrong ten angels swearing that we were right will make no difference.

Sincerely,
1t Northern Home Furnishing Co.

Encouraged to Proceed

Sargent was sometimes criticized on account of the sketchy, impressionistic style of his pictures. One time after finishing three or four new works he gave a tea at his studio in Tite street. Among the guests was a certain duchess, who scanned the new pictures through her lorgnette. Stopping before one of them, she said to Mr Sargent in the condescending tone that duchesses use toward all who work: "I say, I like this, you know. I should go on with it, if I were you."

Valhalla

Valhalla was the abode of Odin the Norse god; it was a huge house of joy and all the heroes went there when they died. The same name was given the temple of fame, built by Louis I of Bavaria at Danaustauf and consecrated to the Germans who had become renowned in war, and the arts. And now it has come to its applied meaning to buildings dedicated to na[illegible] or distinguished folk.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

For the past two years we have been trying to retire from business but at the end of each attempt we found ourselves with a great amount of goods unsold. We are not sure that fate was not kind to us after all, because after inquiring about business conditions in forty cities in all parts of the United States, in view of starting in business, we find that Brainerd is as good and in many cases better than other cities that we had heard from. The cities reporting the poorest conditions were cities where banks had failed.

Right here I want to say the answers we received from our inquiries have proven to us that we have two of the best managed and soundest banks in the country. This alone assures the success of Brainerd because without well managed and sound banking institutions our whole foundation as a city is impaired.

So with this assurance we start the spring business with a new hope and we are going ahead and do the very best we can to the end.

And if at the end we come out all right, what anyone thinks or what anyone says will make no difference. And if at the end we come out all wrong ten angels swearing that we were right will make no difference.

Sincerely,
1t Northern Home Furnishing Co.

Encouraged to Proceed

Sargent was sometimes criticized on account of the sketchy, impressionistic style of his pictures. One time after finishing three or four new works he gave a tea at his studio in Tite street. Among the guests was a certain duchess, who scanned the new pictures through her lorgnette. Stopping before one of them, she said to Mr. Sargent in the condescending tone that duchesses use toward all who work: "I say, I like this, you know. I should go on with it, if I were you."

And now it has come to be applied nearly to all buildings dedicated to na[illegible] or distinguished folk.

Highway Cop: "Let me see your license."

Tourist: "Marriage, car, drivers, campfire, fishing or hunting? Open the license trunk, Lucy."

KAPPA DELPHIANS DISCUSS PAINTERS

Were Guests of Mrs. J. G. Heald, Take up Study Subject for April

AMERICAN SCHOOL

Mrs. Heald's Home Had Ideal Atmosphere in Which to Present Historv

The Kappa Delphians were guests of Mrs. J. G. Heald, North Second street, when they discussed American painters, the Delphian study for April.

Mrs. Heald's home possessed an ideal atmosphere in which to present the history of American art because of several of Col. Thorp's portraits of American statemen, also several landscapes by the hostess, who is a daughter of the late Colonel Thorpe. This artistic environment is rarely found in our northern Minnesota homes because of a dearth of paintings or real good copies of good paintings in any of these homes.

Mrs. Rasch as leader, and Mesdames Heald, Newman, Kirk Smith, McKay, Strader, Herzog and Gerber presented sketches of the following American painters: West, Copley, Stuart, Inness, Vedder, Winslow, Homer, LaFarge, Whistler, Sargent, Abbey and Chase.

Mrs. Heald surprised the club members with a dainty tea.

Tomorrow evening the Delphians meet with Mrs. C. D. McKay, 607 Holly street. This change in time is an opportunity for those members who have not found afternoons convenient to be present and to help determine the future policies of the Kappa Delphians.

Before taking up the regular program, Mrs. J. A. Thabes will present a feature or two of the program of conservation of the Minnesota Federation of Women's clubs followed by Mrs. A. K. Cohen "Beatitudes of the Conservation Division" which is dedicated to the general Federation of Women's clubs by Mrs. Jack H. Pryor, Florida.

The regular Delphian program is as follows:

The Metropolitan Museum of New York—Mrs. Kirk Smith.

The Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts—Mrs. W. C. Rasch.

The Boston Museum—Mrs. Newman.

The Corcoran Gallery of Art—Mrs. J. G. Heald.

The Art Institute of Chicago—Miss Kennedy.

Murals of the Boston Library—Mrs. Herzog.

Murals of the Congressional Library—Mrs. Gerber.

The Carnegie Institute — Mrs. Moulster.

State Capitols—Mrs. Strader.

Mrs. C. D. McKay and Mrs. Strader visited St. Paul art centers last Monday in order to enhance this program. Guest day should be observed as this is the last study program of the year.

The Kappa Delphian annual dinner will be signed up at this meeting.

IN MUNICIPAL COURT

Case of Maintaining Nuisance Draws $100 Fine or 90 Days

Martin Sorenson and Ray Cudney were arraigned Monday, in municipal court, before Judge J. H. Warner and were found guilty of maintaining a nuisance. Sorenson was fined $100 or 90 days. He paid the fine.

Cudney was fined $50 or 50 days and will serve sentence.

Nichols Zwicky and Donald Campbell appeared yesterday afternoon before Judge Warner on a charge of disorderly conduct and were each fined $10 which they paid.

BRAINERD ROTARY BACK FROM ST. CLOUD

Brainerd Ladies Band Makes Hit as It Led Local Delegation in Parade

PLAY, MARCH PERFECTLY

Local Club Well Represented, and Impressed With St. Cloud Hospitalitv

Members of the Brainerd Rotary club and their wives have returned from St. Cloud where they attended the 1927 Rotary district meet along with about 2,000 visiting members from other parts of the district who remained in the Granite City during a two day session, May 3 and 4.

A large percentage of the clubs attending the Rotary convention, sent drum corps and bands to the session, making the parade yesterday one of the best in the history of the city. According to reports coming in from everywhere, the Brainerd Ladies band, which has scored hit after hit where ever they have appeared, proved a sensation in the parade yesterday. They headed the Brainerd delegation in the line of march and were applauded and cheered continuously.

The girls appearing in their snappy uniforms and marching perfectly, per instructions of Mr. Cannon, created an impression that will make them the talk of many for some time to come. Showers of compliments and congratulations were received by the members and contracts were offered them by representatives from various cities and organizations.

Superior to whom the 1928 convention was awarded, is bidding for their services at the gathering next year and representatives from Minot, N. D., want the band to perform at a fair sponsored by several counties of the Northwestern part of North Dakota.

The Brainerd Rotarians feel very proud of the band and are sure that it has again brought a wealth of additional fame and recognition to Brainerd.

Another feature of the parade was the St. Cloud Boys' band which consisted of nearly 300 strong. Ranging from tiny tots to lads in their early teens, the youngsters found favor and appreciation with all. Hibbing was represented with a Ladies' Drum Corps.

Hansford Cox, past president of the Cloquet Rotary club was the unanimous choice to succeed Archie McCannel of Minot, N. D., as district governor for the ninth district of Rotary for the ensuing year. The names of Mr. Cox and Bill Hocking of Devils Lake, N. D., were placed in nomination and Mr. Hocking arose to decline the honor.

L. G. Ross of Superior, Wis., rose to present the invitation of that city as host for the district convention in 1928. Hibbing and Minneapolis had been named as prospective hosts but passed up their chances in favor of Superior.

Fergus Falls was present 100 per cent and there were other units that ran close second including Albert Lea, Staples and one or two others.

About 40 Rotarians and their ladies from Brainerd attended and with the Ladies band formed a presentable delegation.

Speakers of prominence were present and visitors were feted at a banqut Tuesday evening in the St. Cloud Armory.

INTERSTATE PICNIC TO BOLSTER BOOM OF FRANK O. LOWDEN

Des Moines, Ia., May 5.—(UP)—Plans for an interstate picnic to further the demand for Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois, to seek the 1928 republican presidential nomination, will be discussed at a meeting of agricultural region leaders tomorrow.

Members of the committee of twenty-two, who led the midwest fight for farm relief, will conduct tomorrow's meeting. Governor John Hammill of Iowa will attend.

It is planned to discuss possibilities of a meeting of republican leaders from Minnesota, South Dakota, Iowa and Nebraska to be held later this spring. It is proposed to have Lowden speak at the interstate meeting.

PAYING OFF THE WAR DEBT

IN the year ending April 30, the national public debt, according to an announcement made by the treasury, was cut down $1,128,000,000. The gross public debt remaining on May 1 was $18,941,000,000. At its peak point, in August, 1919, the debt was $26,596,000,000. In roughly seven and three-quarters years, then, it has been reduced $7,655,000,000. In other words, the United States has been sloughing its war debt off at approximately the rate of a billion dollars a year.

This is remarkable progress, beyond a doubt. No other country in the world can begin to make such a showing. And yet a glance at the figures must bring home, more vividly than anything else, the sheer costliness of war. If the United States continues paying off its debt at its present rapid rate, it will still have about twenty years of paying ahead of it. The prospect is not of the pleasantest. In a military sense the United States was in the conflict for only about twenty months. But in a financial sense the United States will not be out of it for a good quarter of a century.

With France, Britain, Germany and other powers, the situation is much more serious. Apparently it will be about three-quarters of a century before they are entirely in the clear. Britain's debt today, for example, is practically double ours, and she is not reducing it with anything like the speed with which we are reducing ours.

It is estimated that for four billion dollars the United States could have a highway system which would be the marvel of the world. The country would be gridironed from coast to coast with magnificent boulevards. There would not be a farmhouse, or a village, or a hamlet which would not be situated on a mighty highway fitted perfectly into the national mosaic. With the numerous other billions, what the country could be enjoying in the way of better schools, better recreational facilities, better health facilities, improved water transportation, subsidies for aerial transportation, and so forth and so on, almost staggers the imagination.

The war, of course, was thrust on the United States, and there was no honorable way out. But the costs of war should be given plenty of publicity. They represent an argument against the continuance of war as a means of settling disputes which nobody can get away from.—Minneapolis Tribune.

REVIEW OF FISH AND GAME LAWS

MINNESOTA sportsmen will hunt and fish during the next two years under the same law provisions that prevailed during the past two years, except that a fish licenses will be required. The resident fish license law received the signature of the governor, and those who fish this year will be required to buy a license. This will be nothing new to the hunters, who have contributed well for the privilege of hunting, but is not expected to set well with many residents of the north section of the state who have enjoyed the privilege of free fishing through past years.

The license money will be used to provide additional game wardens and in the propagation of fish. During the summer season when the tourists are thick in this locality additional game wardens are needed, and a resident license fee should provide all the funds necessary for additional protection.

In the final hours of the legislative session the omnibus game and fish bill failed in conference, and was thus defeated. The subject of contention on which the deadlock resulted was the zoning law, and the failure of the bill leaves the state with two zones. The opening date for the bass season in the northern zone will be June 21st, and this date also applies to the opening of the season on all nest building fish including the crappie, rockbass and sunfish. Wall-eyed pike, northern pike, pickerel and perch may be taken on and after May 15th, with limits in size and numbers the same as last year, eight pike or 15 pickerel being the daily limit. Muscallonge may be taken on or after May 15th, the size limit being 30 inches, and the daily limit being two.—Park Rapids Enterprise.

OPINIONS DIFFER

OUR esteemed contemporary, the St. Paul Dispatch-Pioneer Press has given a quietus to any parading of the Snyder-Gray case. At best the whole case appears a most sordid one and the testimony given by Mrs. Ruth Snyder and her alleged lover, Henry Judd Gray, corset salesman who made good money selling corsets, is not particularly edifying.

Yesterday, according to news accounts, Henry Judd Gray, with tears streaming down his countenance, freely confessed that he took an active part in the murder of Mrs. Snyder's husband. He even admitted that he struck the first blow.

He also testified that previously Mrs. Snyder had tried out various kinds of poison on her husband, evidently with the intention of doing away with him.

Our friend, the Minneapolis Morning Tribune, has no feelings regarding the Snyder-Gray case and on Thursday morning paraded the murder trial with an eight column screamer head across the front page, gave a column of news on that page and devoted practically the greater part of the second page of the paper to the case.

The Brainerd Dispatch has published a general story and omitted much of the detailed testimony.

LITTLE FALLS MAN IN THE NEWS

THE Little Falls aviator, Captain Charles A. Lindbergh, will essay a non-stop flight from New York to Paris next month. St. Louis business men are supplying the funds to further the project, and the plane to be used in the flight is now being constructed.

Captain Lindbergh is a son of the late Congressman Charles A. Lindbergh. Minnesota is interested in the success of this flight and will watch every step of preparations and flight.

BOYOLOGY CLASS MEETS AT AITKIN

Training Course Attendants of Crow Wing Area Council Boy Scouts

LIONS CLUB HOST

Scout Executive Newton a Speaker, Winners of Troop Efficiency Contest Announced

Members of the Boyology Training course of the Crow Wing Area Council Boy Scouts which met last evening at the Foley hotel, Aitkin were the guests of the Lions club and enjoyed a most instructive meeting. Scout Executive B. Perry Newton of Brainerd spoke after which the winners of the Troop Efficiency contest which closed April 30 were announced.

Troop One of Pine River, one of the newest troops in the area, won first place in the contest, with a score of 112.4973 points. Rev. David C Holst is Scoutmaster with Harold F. Carlson and J. Dale Lesher, his able assistants.

The contest created keen competition among the troops in the area, the winners scoring very closely. Troop No. Five of Brainerd, with Scoutmaster Edward J. Egan, came in a close second with a score of 112.3588; Troop One of Ironton, under the leadership of F. G. Mayberry, third with a score of 99.7083; Troop One, Brainerd, fourth, scoring 98.-1763 points, Scoutmaster W. Togo Ericson; Troop Two Staples, fifth, score 86, Scoutmaster Thomas W. Betz and Junior Assistant Scoutmaster Gordon Cross and Troop One Aitkin, sixth, score 85.4696, Scoutmaster V. R. Hange.

Every troop worked hard to secure a winning place in order that it might send its Scoutmaster to a Scout Leaders' Training Camp next summer at the expense of the Council. The troops holding first three place will have the honor of sending their Scoutmaster to attend the University of Minnesota Scout Leaders' Course held at Itasca. Troops holding the last three places will send their Scoutmasters to the Duluth Training Camp. There will be many national experts on Scouting to instruct both camps. Among them will be Charles W. Smith of Columbia university, author of "Games and Recreational Methods" one of the finest books of games and instruction used in Scouting, and Captain Mills, assistant national camp director, a national swimming expert.

Credits awarded in the contest were based on such things as attendance at Troop meetings, attendance at church or Sunday school, advancement, hikes, Troop Good Turns and handicraft projects and it is felt that a great deal has been accomplished along these lines and that the contest was a complete success.

"UNEXPECTED CATASTROPHE"

Title of Rev. Peterson's Theme at Swedish Baptist Church

Last night Rev. Peterson spoke to a great crowd at the Swedish Baptist church on the theme "An Unexpected Catastrophe."

He referred to some of the tragedies that have occurred in the past and lastly the unexpected tragedy of Miami. He led his hearers to consider the unexpected coming of the Son of God, either in clouds of glory or calling through the knocking of death.

"When we step across the threshhold of Eternity it will be a final step. There will be no return to correct a life of error and sin," he said.

Tonight Rev. Peterson will speak in Swedish on the theme "The Agonies of Gethsemane." The stringband of the church will sing.

Friday night the choir of the First Baptist church will sing and Rev Peterson will speak in English on the theme "Prodigal Sons."

Next Sunday will close this campaign with three meetings. Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock and in the afternoon at 3 p. m. and the last service Sunday night at 7:45 p. m. At this closing service Rev. Peterson will speak on the theme "Have You the Password?" All services in English except Thursday night and Sunday morning.

DOROTHY MACKAYE GRANTED ANOTHER DELAY IN CASE

Los Angeles, May 5.—(UP)—Dorothy Mackaye, actress wife of Ray Raymond, alleged "bare knuckle murder" victim, was granted another delay today when she appeared to plead to charges in connection with her husband's death.

In company with her co-defendant, Dr. Walter Sullivan, the actress appeared before Superior Judge Charles Burnell and asked that the arraignment on charges of being an accessory after the fact and compounding a felony be delayed until Monday.

Counsel for Miss Mackaye indicated that demurrers to the indictment probably will be filed Monday, the day Paul Kelly, husky screen juvenile, goes to trial for the murder of Raymond in an alleged fight over the latter's wife.

BRAINERD 25 YEARS AGO

From the Daily Dispatch

May 5, 1902

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wulling of Little Falls spent Saturday and a part of Sunday in the city, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Nevers. They were married at Little Falls last week. Mrs. Wulling is a daughter of Senator Buckman and is well known in this city.

R. G. Malcolm of Duluth was in the city yesterday visiting with the Brainerd mail carriers. Mr. Malcolm is state vice president of the National Association of Letter Carriers.

W. E. Seelye left this afternoon for St. Paul where he will join those interested in the North Carolina Gold Mines.

The mail carriers have ordered new summer suits. P. M. Zakariasen took their measurements.

Mrs. Lucy B. Donaldson left this afternoon for Minneapolis for an extended visit.

Judge Alderman left last night for Connecticut for an extended visit.

Complete Testimony Investigating the State Securities Commission

St. Paul, May 5.—(UP)—Taking of testimony in the investigation of the State Securities commission, during the period A. E. Nelson, Minneapolis was its head, has been completed and transcripts are being prepared, Attorney General C. L. Hilton announced today. The attorney general conducted secret conferences with several state officials attending.

When completed, the transcripts are to be turned over to C. D. O'Brien, Ramsey county attorney. He will make a study of the testimony and determine whether grand jury action is warranted.

The state senate ordered investigation under the direction of Attorney General Hilton after a preliminary probe in which defalcation in the offices of Nelson were said to have been revealed.

URGES FEDERAL LEGISLATION FOR RIVER CONTROL

Washington, May 5.—(UP)—Federal legislation, for permanent control in the Mississippi valley was urged in a resolution adopted today by the convention of the United States Chamber of Commerce, which pledged its cooperation in all efforts to rehabilitate the flooded areas.

The Chamber also went on record for substantial reduction of the corporation tax, repeal of the state tax, abolition of remaining war taxes and simplification of the present administration of federal taxes.

Opposition to proposals that the government build new ships was expressed in another resolution, reaffirming the Chamber's advocacy of private ship ownership and operation.

The Chamber took no action on several resolutions embodying farm relief proposals, deciding to wait until an investigation now being made by the organization is completed.

SCORES OF EDITORS AT SHORT COURSE AT UNIVERSITY

St. Paul, May 5.—(UP)—Scores of Minnesota newspaper editors are in St. Paul today for the 11th annual editors' short course at University farm. The three-day meeting was to open with a discussion of the country editors' problems at 2:30 p. m.

The annual complimentary dinner is to be held this evening under the auspices of the Minneapolis Journal with Carl Eastwood, Le Sueur, presiding.

President Lotus D. Coffman of the University of Minnesota, Dean W. C. Coffey of the department of agriculture, and J. V. Weber, president of the Minnesota Editorial association, are scheduled to address the gathering.

GIRL OF 15 MARRIED HER BROTHER OF 17

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 5.—(UP)—Mollie Greenberg, 15, who became the wife of her brother, Oscar, 17, when the two met after having been separated since infancy, was held today as a material witness in the trial of her brother.

Oscar was reared as "Max Cashan" by a family with whom his mother had placed him when he was three years old. He will be tried under that name next Tuesday on a statutory charge.

Meanwhile, Justice O'Keefe of the children's court remanded Mollie to the custody of the Children's society.

MILLION DOLLARS IS WAITING FOR HEIRS OF ESTATE

Boston, May 5.—(UP)—A million dollars is waiting for the living heirs of a man who died 70 years ago.

At Joseph Shaw's death in 1857, he left only a modest fortune, but through the magic of compound interest the estate, unclaimed in the intervening years, has piled up.

Shaw had five children—George, William, Charles, Joseph and Mary. Whether any of them are still living, lawyers have been unable to determine. The attorneys are trying to find grandchildren of Shaw.

Thus far, only one claimant has appeared, Thomas Shaw, of Dedham, father of six children, who believes he was connected with the Joseph Shaw family.

The search for descendants has extended to Minneapolis to which city William Shaw went from Boston many years ago.

'SHOULDER ARMS' OF CHAPLIN IS SHOWN IN COURT

New York, May 5.—(UP)—Motion picture projection apparatus was installed today in Federal Judge William Bondy's courtroom for the showing of Charles Chaplin's wartime comedy, "Shoulder Arms."

The procedure was decided on by Nathan Burkan, attorney for the actor, in defending Chaplin against a $50,000 plagiarism suit by Leo Loeb, a disinfectant salesman, who claims Chaplin stole parts of an unproduced scenario by him entitled "The Rookie" and used them in "Shoulder Arms."

Burkan said Chaplin probably would testify.

Loeb testified today that he wrote "The Rookie" while a marine in the war. It was his first and last literary effort. He said he was in the leather goods business before the war. He compared the scenarios of "The Rookie" and "Shoulder Arms" to show that several incidents were similar.

EXTRA GUARDS POSTED TO PREVENT JAIL LIBERATION

Faribault, Minn., May 5.—(UP)—Extra guards were posted around the Rice county jail late today to prevent a possible attempt by Twin City gunmen to liberate Ignatius Wilkus, of Minneapolis, convicted burglar.

A jury in district court earlier in the day found Wilkus guilty of grand larceny and robbery and he was sentenced to 10 years in the Stillwater penitentiary.

Wilkus, alias Eddie Wagner, is declared to have a long criminal record. Authorities said he was one of the men who were riding in a truck that was fired upon by a Northfield policeman, killing a Minneapolis boy. He was convicted of robbing the Nerstrand hardware store here.

GEN. GALLEGOS KILLED IN BATTLE

Mexico City, May 5.—(UP)—General Rodolgo Gallegos, the only federal general who has revolted against the Calles government, was killed in a battle with federal troops yesterday, it was officially announced last night.

Federals surrounded and engaged a group of nine rebels near Tepozan, in the state of Guanjuato, the statement said.

Gallegos' horse was shot under him and the general himself later was killed. Gallegos was leader of the rebels in Guanjuato.

Hessians in America

Of the 29,867 Hessians that came to America during the Revolutionary war only 17,313 returned to Germany. Of these remaining, 548 were killed, and some of the 1,652 wounded died. Some also disappeared, but a great number are known to have remained and settled; grants were given them in Nova Scotia, but many scattered to different parts of the country.

Live in Mountains

Clark nutcrackers are all-year mountaineers. At altitudes of from 5,000 to 8,000 feet, says Nature Magazine, they busy themselves in the alpine forests of the Northwest prying cones from the trees and hammering off the cone scales with their bills to get at the seeds.

The contest created keen competition among the troops in the area, the winners scoring very closely. Troop No. Five of Brainerd, with Scoutmaster Edward J. Egan, came in a close second with a score of 112.3588; Troop One of Ironton, under the leadership of F. G. Mayberry, third with a score of 99.7083; Troop One, Brainerd, fourth, scoring 98.1763 points, Scoutmaster W. Togo Ericson; Troop Two Staples, fifth, score 86, Scoutmaster Thomas W. Betz and Junior Assistant Scoutmaster Gordon Cross and Troop One Aitkin, sixth, score 85.4696, Scoutmaster V. R. Hange.

Every troop worked hard to secure a winning place in order that it might send its Scoutmaster to a Scout Leaders' Training Camp next summer at the expense of the Council. The troops holding first three place will have the honor of sending their Scoutmaster to attend the University of Minnesota Scout Leaders' Course held at Itasca. Troops holding the last three places will send their Scoutmasters to the Duluth Training Camp. There will be many national experts on Scouting to instruct both camps. Among them will be Charles W. Smith of Columbia university, author of "Games and Recreational Methods" one of the finest books of games and instruction used in Scouting, and Captain Mills, assistant national camp director, a national swimming expert.

Credits awarded in the contest were based on such things as attendance at Troop meetings, attendance at church or Sunday school, advancement, hikes, Troop Good Turns and handicraft projects and it is felt that a great deal has been accomplished along these lines and that the contest was a complete success.

"UNEXPECTED CATASTROPHE"

Title of Rev. Peterson's Theme at Swedish Baptist Church

Last night Rev. Peterson spoke to a great crowd at the Swedish Baptist church on the theme "An Unexpected Catastrophe."

He referred to some of the tragedies that have occurred in the past and lastly the unexpected tragedy of Miami. He led his hearers to consider the unexpected coming of the Son of God, either in clouds of glory or calling through the knocking of death.

"When we step across the threshhold of Eternity it will be a final step. There will be no return to correct a life of error and sin," he said.

Tonight Rev. Peterson will speak in Swedish on the theme "The Agonies of Gethsemane." The stringband of the church will sing.

Friday night the choir of the First Baptist church will sing and Rev. Peterson will speak in English on the theme "Prodigal Sons."

Next Sunday will close this campaign with three meetings. Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock and in the afternoon at 3 p. m. and the last service Sunday night at 7:45 p. m. At this closing service Rev. Peterson will speak on the theme "Have You the Password?" All services in English except Thursday night and Sunday morning.

DOROTHY MACKAYE GRANTED ANOTHER DELAY IN CASE

Los Angeles, May 5.—(UP)—Dorothy Mackaye, actress wife of Ray Raymond, alleged "bare knuckle murder" victim, was granted another delay today when she appeared to plead to charges in connection with her husband's death.

In company with her co-defendant, Dr. Walter Sullivan, the actress appeared before Superior Judge Charles Burnell and asked that the arraignment on charges of being an accessory after the fact and compounding a felony be delayed until Monday.

Counsel for Miss Mackaye indicated that demurrers to the indictment probably will be filed Monday, the day Paul Kelly, husky screen juvenile, goes to trial for the murder of Raymond in an alleged fight over the latter's wife.

BRAINERD 25 YEARS AGO

From the Daily Dispatch

May 5, 1902

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wulling of Little Falls spent Saturday and a part of Sunday in the city, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Nevers. They were married at Little Falls last week. Mrs. Wulling is a daughter of Senator Buckman and is well known in this city.

R. G. Malcolm of Duluth was in the city yesterday visiting with the Brainerd mail carriers. Mr. Malcolm is state vice president of the National Association of Letter Carriers.

W. E. Seelye left this afternoon for St. Paul where he will join those interested in the North Carolina Gold Mines.

The mail carriers have ordered new summer suits. P. M. Zakariasen took their measurements.

Mrs. Lucy P. Donaldson left this afternoon for Minneapolis for an extended visit.

Judge Alderman left last night for Connecticut for an extended visit.

Complete Testimony Investigating the State Securities Commission

St. Paul, May 5.—(UP)—Taking of testimony in the investigation of the State Securities commission during the period A. E. Nelson, Minneapolis was its head, has been completed and transcripts are being prepared, Attorney General C. L. Hilton announced today. The attorney general conducted secret conferences with several state officials attending.

When completed, the transcripts are to be turned over to C. D. O'Brien, Ramsey county attorney. He will make a study of the testimony and determine whether grand jury action is warranted.

The state senate ordered investigation under the direction of Attorney General Hilton after a preliminary probe in which defalcation in the offices of Nelson were said to have been revealed.

URGES FEDERAL LEGISLATION FOR RIVER CONTROL

Washington, May 5.—(UP)—Federal legislation, for permanent control in the Mississippi valley was urged in a resolution adopted today by the convention of the United States Chamber of Commerce, which pledged its cooperation in all efforts to rehabilitate the flooded areas.

The Chamber also went on record for substantial reduction of the corporation tax, repeal of the state tax, abolition of remaining war taxes and simplification of the present administration of federal taxes.

Opposition to proposals that the government build new ships was expressed in another resolution, reaffirming the Chamber's advocacy of private ship ownership and operation.

The Chamber took no action on several resolutions embodying farm relief proposals, deciding to wait until an investigation now being made by the organization is completed.

SCORES OF EDITORS AT SHORT COURSE AT UNIVERSITY

St. Paul, May 5.—(UP)—Scores of Minnesota newspaper editors are in St. Paul today for the 11th annual editors' short course at University farm. The three-day meeting was to open with a discussion of the country editors' problems at 2:30 p. m.

The annual complimentary dinner is to be held this evening under the auspices of the Minneapolis Journal with Carl Eastwood, Le Sueur, presiding.

President Lotus D. Coffman of the University of Minnesota, Dean W. C. Coffey of the department of agriculture, and J. V. Weber, president of the Minnesota Editorial association, are scheduled to address the gathering.

GIRL OF 15 MARRIED HER BROTHER OF 17

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 5.—(UP)—Mollie Greenberg, 15, who became the wife of her brother, Oscar, 17, when the two met after having been separated since infancy, was held today as a material witness in the trial of her brother.

Oscar was reared as "Max Cashan" by a family with whom his mother had placed him when he was three years old. He will be tried under that name next Tuesday on a statutory charge.

Meanwhile, Justice O'Keefe of the children's court remanded Mollie to the custody of the Children's society.

The Simple Way

Add a pint of boiling water to a package of Sunlite-Jell, then note the delicious tantalizing aroma of fresh ripe fruit. No objectionable odor, because the gelatine in Sunlite is pure and high grade. Compare it with others. Then judge for yourself. Your grocer has Sunlite or can get it. —Advt.

MILLION DOLLARS IS WAITING FOR HEIRS OF ESTATE

Boston, May 5.—(UP)—A million dollars is waiting for the living heirs of a man who died 70 years ago.

At Joseph Shaw's death in 1857, he left only a modest fortune, but through the magic of compound interest the estate, unclaimed in the intervening years, has piled up.

Shaw had five children—George, William, Charles, Joseph and Mary. Whether any of them are still living, lawyers have been unable to determine. The attorneys are trying to find grandchildren of Shaw.

Thus far, only one claimant has appeared, Thomas Shaw, of Dedham, father of six children, who believes he was connected with the Joseph Shaw family.

The search for descendants has extended to Minneapolis to which city William Shaw went from Boston many years ago.

'SHOULDER ARMS' OF CHAPLIN IS SHOWN IN COURT

New York, May 5.—(UP)—Motion picture projection apparatus was installed today in Federal Judge William Bondy's courtroom for the showing of Charles Chaplin's wartime comedy, "Shoulder Arms."

The procedure was decided on by Nathan Burkan, attorney for the actor, in defending Chaplin against a $50,000 plagiarism suit by Leo Loeb, a disinfectant salesman, who claims Chaplin stole parts of an unproduced scenario by him entitled "The Rookie" and used them in "Shoulder Arms."

Burkan said Chaplin probably would testify.

Loeb testified today that he wrote "The Rookie" while a marine in the war. It was his first and last literary effort. He said he was in the leather goods business before the war. He compared the scenarios of "The Rookie" and "Shoulder Arms" to show that several incidents were similar.

EXTRA GUARDS POSTED TO PREVENT JAIL LIBERATION

Faribault, Minn., May 5.—(UP)—Extra guards were posted around the Rice county jail late today to prevent a possible attempt by Twin City gunmen to liberate Ignatius Wilkus, of Minneapolis, convicted burglar.

A jury in district court earlier in the day found Wilkus guilty of grand larceny and robbery and he was sentenced to 10 years in the Stillwater penitentiary.

Wilkus, alias Eddie Wagner, is declared to have a long criminal record. Authorities said he was one of the men who were riding in a truck that was fired upon by a Northfield policeman, killing a Minneapolis boy. He was convicted of robbing the Nerstrand hardware store here.

GEN. GALLEGOS KILLED IN BATTLE

Mexico City, May 5.—(UP)—General Rodolgo Gallegos, the only federal general who has revolted against the Calles government, was killed in a battle with federal troops yesterday, it was officially announced last night.

Federals surrounded and engaged a group of nine rebels near Tepozan, in the state of Guanjuato, the statement said.

Gallegos' horse was shot under him and the general himself later was killed. Gallegos was leader of the rebels in Guanjuato.

Hessians in America

Of the 29,867 Hessians that came to America during the Revolutionary war only 17,313 returned to Germany. Of these remaining, 548 were killed, and some of the 1,652 wounded died. Some also disappeared, but a great number are known to have remained and settled; grants were given them in Nova Scotia, but many scattered to different parts of the country.

Live in Mountains

Clark nutcrackers are all-year mountaineers. At altitudes of from 5,000 to 8,000 feet, says Nature Magazine, they busy themselves in the alpine forests of the Northwest prying cones from the trees and hammering off the cone scales with their bills to get at the seeds.

BENTLEY WINS GAME WITH SINGLE

GOES TO BAT IN TENTH FRAME, DELIVERS GOODS

NEW YORK GIANTS DEFEAT BROOKLYN, SCORE 4 TO 3

ALL OF GIANTS' RUNS SCORED IN LAST TWO INNINGS

By UNITED PRESS

Yesterday's hero — Bentley who went in at first base for the New York Giants after Terry had given way to a pinch hitter in the ninth, went to bat in the tenth with two out and knocked in the winning run with a clean single. The ten-inning game resulted: New York, 4; Brooklyn, 3. All of the Giant's runs were scored in the last two innings.

The crippled Washington Senators, with five regulars out of the lineup, lit on Dutch Reuther, Yankee pitcher, in the first inning, scored seven runs and beat New York 7 to 4. The Yanks scored 3 in the first and 1 in the second. The pitching tightened after the second and none scored.

Jess Haines of the Cardinals recorded his fifth consecutive win in beating Pittsburgh 8 to 3 and kept his team in the lead of the National league.

The Chicago White Sox got six in the fourth, 3 in the eighth and 2 in the ninth inning for an 11 to 5 victory over Detroit. Hoot Gibson, Tiger pitcher, distinguished himself by striking out four Chicagoans in a row in the second and third innings but couldn't repeat in the fourth.

When the Cincinnati Reds finally succeeded in getting three Chicago Cubs out in the third inning, the score was 10 to 4 against them, the Chicagoans having scored 8 runs in that session. The final score was Chicago 13, Cincinnati 9. Earl Webb, Cub "find" of the season lived up to his reputation by hitting a home run, a double and a single.

Cleveland had a bad day at St. Louis, losing to the Browns, 13 to 3. Levsen, Shaute and Collard who pitched for the Indians were equally ineffective. The Browns scored six of their runs in the sixth.

Minneapolis—A seven game losing streak was ended by the Minneapolis Millers when they defeated Louisville 6 to 5. Loftus and Kenna of Minneapolis hit home runs.

St. Paul—After the score had been tied for most of 13 innings, Indianapolis broke lose in the 14th, scored 6 runs and beat St. Paul, 9 to 3.

Kansas City—Wamby's error in the eighth when bases were full gave Toledo a 6 to 5 victory over the Kansas City Blues ball team.

Milwaukee—Another 14-inning association game resulted in a 9 to 8 victory for Milwaukee over Columbus. The latter broke the tie in their half of the 13th with one run, but the Brewers came back in their inning and again tied the score.

BASEBALL'S BIG FOUR

The Babe could get but a single in four tries.

Hornsby went hitless in two attempts.

Cobb's averages for the day were void because the Athletic-Red Sox game was called off in the third inning.

Tris Speaker hit one for a base in five times up.

Averages:

| | AB | H | Pct | Fielding | Home Runs |

BALL CLUB HAS EVERYTHING— LOSES GAMES

POWERFUL ATTACK GOOD FOR 5 OR 6 RUNS IN EVERY GAME

FIELDING DEFENSE FINE, BUT STILL LOSES AGAINST WEAK TEAMS

By HENRY L. FARRELL

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, May 5.—What's wrong with a ball club which has a powerful attack good for five or six runs a game and a fielding defense as good as any but nevertheless loses ball games?

It didn't take John McGraw twenty-five years as a manager to learn that at least one reliable pitcher is essential on any ball club and he knows better than anyone that if his New York Giants are to get any place this year in the National League something will have to be done about the pitching.

There are only two ways to get the desperately needed pitcher, purchase or trade.

With the minors so thoroughly harvested, it is out of the question to get a rookies without strings on him. No rival major league club will take the rap of the public by selling a star pitcher outright to strengthen a pennant contender and the Giants haven't the trading material to suit the needs of a club with surplus pitchers.

The Giants might be able to get Tony Kauffman from the Cubs. He is said to be in bad with the management. But even if Bill McCarthy is in the mood to get rid of him he would want plenty from the Giants for him.

McGraw was said to be after Joe Genewich from the Braves before the season started but Genewich hasn't looked so good this season. He might do better with a strong hitting club, however.

There was a time before the season opened when the New York club could have had Adolf Luque from the Cincinnati Reds if the Giant owners had been willing to pay a few more thousands.

It is improbable that the Reds would do business with the Giants now for two reasons. They would not be big hearted in helping a strong club and McGraw wouldn't part with a player who would solve their problems.

Also the Red owners resent the Kelly-Roush deal and feel that the Giants slipped one over on them. They assert the Giants knew Kelly had developed chronic appendicitis and would be no good this season, and by keeping mum about it New York grabbed Roush.

There's a good pitcher in Philadelphia, Carlson. But try and get him away from Stuffy McInnis.

The plight of the Giants is really serious.

Looking over the soft Brooklyn, Boston and Philadelphia clubs on their early schedule, Rogers Hornsby, captain of the Giants, said:

"We ought to win seventeen out of the first twenty-two games and go west with such a big lead that we can't be caught."

The Giants are getting ready for the strong western clubs. And they have lost seven of their first eighteen games.

Montreal, Que.—Pete August, welterweight of bridgeport, Conn., scored a technical knockout over George Fifield, Canadian champion in the fifth round. Rene Devos, European middleweight champion, won a ten round decision over Del Fontaine of Winnipeg.

DEFEAT STORE ROOM TEAM, SCORE WAS 15-9

ONE OF BEST GAMES OF THE SEASON, SAY FANS

SCRAP DOCK CONTINUES FIRST PLACE IN LEAGUE STANDINGS

The Bye Clothing Company kittenball team defeated the Store Room, 15 to 9, last evening in one of the best games played this season.

The Bye Company boys were never in danger of being overtaken, holding the Store Room to but four runs in the first six innings, and totalling 14 runs for themselves in this period.

In the seventh inning the Bye boys netted but one run, making the total 15, while the Store Room made a last and mighty effort, scoring five runs and bringing their total to nine runs. One of the largest crowds of the season was in evidence.

Coming from behind with three straight defeats, the Bye men have now shown the calibre of a real team, a team working with perfect co-ordination in defensive work and showing a mighty walloping power at the bat. Last night's game made the fourth straight victory for the Bye Company and indications are that from now on this team will have to be reckoned with by all opponents.

Batteries last night were Ericsson and Flaata for the Bye Company, Whitlock and Tribur for the Store Room.

W. Anderson did the Babe Ruth act with one home run to his credit. Triple base hits were hammered out by Hagberg (two) and one each by Lorenz, W. Anderson and Goltz.

St. Paul—After the score had been tied for most of 13 innings, Indianapolis broke lose in the 14th, scored 6 runs and beat St. Paul, 9 to 3.

Kansas City—Wamby's error in the eighth when bases were full gave Toledo a 6 to 5 victory over the Kansas City Blues ball team.

Milwaukee—Another 14-inning association game resulted in a 9 to 8 victory for Milwaukee over Columbus. The latter broke the tie in their half of the 13th with one run, but the Brewers came back in their inning and again tied the score.

BASEBALL'S BIG FOUR

The Babe could get but a single in four tries.

Hornsby went hitless in two attempts.

Cobb's averages for the day were void because the Athletic-Red Sox game was called off in the third inning.

Tris Speaker hit one for a base in five times up.

Averages:

| | AB | H | Pct | Fielding | Home Runs |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Hornsby | 69 | 29 | .420 | .990 | 3 |
| Cobb | 73 | 30 | .411 | 1000 | 0 |

JOHNNY WEISMULLER BREAKS 4 OFFICIAL RECORDS AT MEET

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 5.—(UP)—Swimming against time kept by 18 official A. A. U. representatives, Johnny Weismuller, aquatic marvel, broke four official records in a special exhibition in Michigan university pool.

Weismuller, holder of 55 world records, clipped a full second from his mark in the 100 yard free style by swimming the distance in 51 seconds.

He then bettered three records in a single swim, setting marks of 1:46.8 for 200 yard free style; 2:08 for 200 meters and 2:09 for 220 yards.

His former 200 meter mark was lowered 7 seconds and he bettered by 6.2 seconds his previous record in the 220 yard free style. Time in the 200 yard event was lowered 3.6 seconds.

Fresno, Calif. — Marcel Thuru, French welterweight, and Johnnie Cline, Fresno, fought ten fast rounds to a draw. Gene Cline, Fresno welterweight defeated Jack Lamson, Los Angeles, in six rounds.

BALL CLUB HAS EVERYTHING— LOSES GAMES

POWERFUL ATTACK GOOD FOR 5 OR 6 RUNS IN EVERY GAME

FIELDING DEFENSE FINE, BUT STILL LOSES AGAINST WEAK TEAMS

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, May 5.—What's wrong with a ball club which has a powerful attack good for five or six runs a game and a fielding defense as good as any but nevertheless loses ball games?

It didn't take John McGraw twenty-five years as a manager to learn that at least one reliable pitcher is essential on any ball club and he knows better than anyone that if his New York Giants are to get any place this year in the National League something will have to be done about the pitching.

There are only two ways to get the desperately needed pitcher, purchase or trade.

With the minors so thoroughly harvested, it is out of the question to get a rookies without strings on him. No rival major league club will take the rap of the public by selling a star pitcher outright to strengthen a pennant contender and the Giants haven't the trading material to suit the needs of a club with surplus pitchers.

The Giants might be able to get Tony Kauffman from the Cubs. He is said to be in bad with the management. But even if Bill McCarthy is in the mood to get rid of him he would want plenty from the Giants for him.

McGraw was said to be after Joe Genewich from the Braves before the season started but Genewich hasn't looked so good this season. He might do better with a strong hitting club, however.

There was a time before the season opened when the New York club could have had Adolf Luque from the Cincinnati Reds if the Giant owners had been willing to pay a few more thousands.

It is improbable that the Reds would do business with the Giants now for two reasons. They would not be big hearted in helping a strong club and McGraw wouldn't part with a player who would solve their problems.

Also the Red owners resent the Kelly-Roush deal and feel that the Giants slipped one over on them. They assert the Giants knew Kelly had developed chronic appendicitis and would be no good this season, and by keeping mum about it New York grabbed Roush.

There's a good pitcher in Philadelphia, Carlson. But try and get him away from Stuffy McInnis.

The plight of the Giants is really serious.

Looking over the soft Brooklyn, Boston and Philadelphia clubs on their early schedule, Rogers Hornsby, captain of the Giants, said:

"We ought to win seventeen out of the first twenty-two games and go west with such a big lead that we can't be caught."

The Giants are getting ready for the strong western clubs. And they have lost seven of their first eighteen games.

Montreal, Que.—Pete August, welterweight of bridgeport, Conn., scored a technical knockout over George Fifield, Canadian champion in the fifth round. Rene Devos, European middleweight champion, won a ten round decision over Del Fontaine of Winnipeg.

DEFEAT STORE ROOM TEAM, SCORE WAS 15-9

ONE OF BEST GAMES OF THE SEASON, SAY FANS

SCRAP DOCK CONTINUES FIRST PLACE IN LEAGUE STANDINGS

The Bye Clothing Company kittenball team defeated the Store Room, 15 to 9, last evening in one of the best games played this season.

The Bye Company boys were never in danger of being overtaken, holding the Store Room to but four runs in the first six innings, and totalling 14 runs for themselves in this period.

In the seventh inning the Bye boys netted but one run, making the total 15, while the Store Room made a last and mighty effort, scoring five runs and bringing their total to nine runs. One of the largest crowds of the season was in evidence.

Coming from behind with three straight defeats, the Bye men have now shown the calibre of a real team, a team working with perfect co-ordination in defensive work and showing a mighty walloping power at the bat. Last night's game made the fourth straight victory for the Bye Company and indications are that from now on this team will have to be reckoned with by all opponents.

Batteries last night were Ericsson and Flaata for the Bye Company, Whitlock and Tribur for the Store Room.

W. Anderson did the Babe Ruth act with one home run to his credit. Triple base hits were hammered out by Hagberg (two) and one each by Lorenz, W. Anderson and Goltz.

Associations of City in Joint Convention in Month of May

AT LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL

Miss Rickard to Demonstrate Just How Music is Taught in Schools

According to tradition the various Parent and Teachers' associations of Brainerd will hold a joint meeting at the high school in May. The meeting this year is scheduled for next Tuesday, May 10, at 8 o'clock.

The program this year is one very different from the ones given before. People very often inquire as to just how music is taught in public schools so Miss Rickard has prepared a demonstration to show the progress from note singing in the first grade into two part and three part singing. For this purpose she will have students from different sections of town demonstrate various methods. This should be of interest to everyone concerned.

In addition to this demonstration, Rev. R. J. Long, who has so enjoyable a reputation as a speaker, has consented to give a talk to the parents assembled. With music by the high school orchestra this program should be a very good one indeed. As is the custom, very brief reports will be read by the representatives of the various schools so that the different sections may become acquainted with the work done in the other parts of the city. Everyone is urged to attend.

Club Planning on Wearing Distinctive Uniforms at District Convention

At the regular business session of the Lions club held last evening at the Ransford hotel, R. L. Geist, president, Dr. W. A. Erickson and Dr. G. I. Badeaux were elected delegates from the local den to attend the district convention at Fargo which will be held May 20-21.

The club is planning to turn out 100 per cent and will attend the convention wearing special uniforms that it hopes will be distinctive from any others that may appear.

Matters of importance were taken up during the course of the meeting and ways and means were sought to bring the 1928 convention to Brainerd. The local club is going to make a strong bid for the next convention and will make every effort to become the chosen city.

Arrangements were made to hold the next regular meeting at the summer home of Dr. B. E. Nordquist at Round Lake, North.

EXERCISES ARE MOST IMPRESSIVE

Judge Stanton and Federal Examiner Doe Preside at Citizenship Examination

REV. FATHER HOGAN SPEAKER

Takes as His Topic "Intolerance of People," Urges Practice of Maxim Love Your Neighbor

In the presence of a crowded court room filled with interested and sympathetic spectators, 14 applicants for citizenship, yesterday, received their citizenship papers making them full-fledged Americans under the laws of the constitution. Judge C. W. Stanton of Bemidji and R. K. Doe, of Duluth, federal examiner, presided.

Rev. James Hogan of St. Francis Catholic church was the speaker of the day and had as his topic "Intolerance of Peoples."

Rev. Hogan said in part: "If people practiced the old maxim of 'loving your neighbor' and if applied to nations, there would be no need of armies or navies. Intolerance is entirely out of the question, it being worse than barbarism. There is no necessity for intolerance in this country of equality."

Judge Stanton impressed the new citizens with the fact that they should continue their study of the English laws and language, and to read current literature so as to become more intelligent voters.

Commissioner Doe stated that there wasn't room in this country for Communism "that there should be no complaint from peoples who come from lands of no personal freedom and opportunities—that the poorest laborer here is far better off than college professors of Europe."

R. G. Jenkins, Exalted Ruler of the local Elks lodge presented an Elks American flag to each one of the new citizens and completed the impressive ceremony by quoting "Who Named You Old Glory."

Women of various patriotic organizations of the city served a splendid lunch after the program. Mrs. M. Carmichiel and Mrs. R. T. Campbell were in charge. It was the opinion of many that this was the most successful program and lunch that has been given for the benefit of the new fledged citizens for many years.

RELIEF APPEAL NOW DOUBLED

Wm. M. Baxter, Jr., Wires Mrs. J. A. Thabes That County Quota is Now $1,000

CITIZENS ASKED TO AID

Blacksmith Department of Northern Pacific Railway Shops Donate $43.75 Today

The appeal for flood relief in the south has been doubled, that is the figures set at $5,000,000 have been doubled to $10,000,000. So great is the disaster, with added dark chapters accumulating every hour, that it may go down in history as the worst flood ever occurring.

Up to yesterday donations as given to the Brainerd Dispatch office to be transmitted to the Red Cross Chapter here, totalled $167.

This morning a young lady brought in the first donation from the Northern Pacific railway shops, the blacksmith department having contributed $43.75. This donation, in fact all donations received, are most gratefully acknowledged by the Red Cross. It is hoped the example set by the blacksmiths of the shops will be emulated by other organizations throughout the city.

In the telegram sent Mrs. Thabes, who is president of the Brainerd Chapter, Wm. M. Baxter, Jr., said: "Upon recommendation Hoover following completion of survey disaster area Red Cross Central Committee decided that in view of the vast increase of the flooded area that the emergency situation now demands a minimum of $10,000,000. This doubles the quota already assigned your Chapter.

"If you have already raised double your quota, continue efforts to secure as large an amount as possible. Extend your appeal to all communities in your Chapter jurisdiction. We are confident we can depend upon a continuation of your local and devoted efforts in this crisis."

Accordingly Mrs. Thabes will broaden this appeal to not only include Brainerd, but every section of Crow Wing county. The St. Cloud Chapter takes in Stearns county and Brainerd Chapter may well follow that example, the quotas being the same, by taking in all Crow Wing county.

It is reported that more money is being gathered and the act of the Blacksmiths will furnish the necessary incentive to stimulate others in giving freely and quickly.

Receipt of all funds by the Brainerd Dispatch is acknowledged by being printed in the paper. After such publication the money is turned over to the Brainerd Chapter of the Red Cross.

P. T. A. BODIES JOINT MEETING

Associations of City in Joint Convention in Month of May

AT LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL

Miss Rickard to Demonstrate Just How Music is Taught in Schools

According to tradition the various Parent and Teachers' associations of Brainerd will hold a joint meeting at the high school in May. The meeting this year is scheduled for next Tuesday, May 10, at 8 o'clock.

The program this year is one very different from the ones given before. People very often inquire as to just how music is taught in public schools so Miss Rickard has prepared a demonstration to show the progress from note singing in the first grade into two part and three part singing. For this purpose she will have students from different sections of town demonstrate various methods. This should be of interest to everyone concerned.

In addition to this demonstration, Rev. R. J. Long, who has so enjoyable a reputation as a speaker, has consented to give a talk to the parents assembled. With music by the high school orchestra this program should be a very good one indeed. As is the custom, very brief reports will be read by the representatives of the various schools so that the different sections may become acquainted with the work done in the other parts of the city. Everyone is urged to attend.

WM. GRAY ARRESTED

Charged With Possession and Sale of Intoxicating Liquor

A search warrant was issued yesterday and federal agents accompanied by two deputy sheriffs searched the Ideal hotel last night and reported finding liquor in three rooms.

Wm. Gray was arrested, charged with the possession and sale of intoxicating liquor. He was arraigned before U. S. Court Commissioner A. D. Polk this morning and waived examination. Bond was fixed at $1,000.

LIONS NAME THREE DELEGATES

R. L. Geist, Dr. W. A. Erickson, Dr. G. I. Badeaux to Attend Fargo Meeting

TO BE HELD MAY 20 AND 21

Club Planning on Wearing Distinctive Uniforms at District Convention

At the regular business session of the Lions club held last evening at the Ransford hotel, R. L. Geist, president, Dr. W. A. Erickson and Dr. G. I. Badeaux were elected delegates from the local den to attend the district convention at Fargo which will be held May 20-21.

The club is planning to turn out 100 per cent and will attend the convention wearing special uniforms that it hopes will be distinctive from any others that may appear.

Matters of importance were taken up during the course of the meeting and ways and means were sought to bring the 1928 convention to Brainerd. The local club is going to make a strong bid for the next convention and will make every effort to become the chosen city.

Arrangements were made to hold the next regular meeting at the summer home of Dr. B. E. Nordquist at Round Lake, North.

EXERCISES ARE MOST IMPRESSIVE

Judge Stanton and Federal Examiner Doe Preside at Citizenship Examination

REV. FATHER HOGAN SPEAKER

Takes as His Topic "Intolerance of People," Urges Practice of Maxim Love Your Neighbor

In the presence of a crowded court room filled with interested and sympathetic spectators, 14 applicants for citizenship, yesterday, received their citizenship papers making them full-fledged Americans under the laws of the constitution. Judge C. W. Stanton of Bemidji and R. K. Doe, of Duluth, federal examiner, presided.

Rev. James Hogan of St. Francis Catholic church was the speaker of the day and had as his topic "Intolerance of Peoples."

Rev. Hogan said in part: "If people practiced the old maxim of 'loving your neighbor' and if applied to nations, there would be no need of armies or navies. Intolerance is entirely out of the question, it being worse than barbarism. There is no necessity for intolerance in this country of equality."

Judge Stanton impressed the new citizens with the fact that they should continue their study of the English laws and language, and to read current literature so as to become more intelligent voters.

Commissioner Doe stated that there wasn't room in this country for Communism "that there should be no complaint from peoples who come from lands of no personal freedom and opportunities—that the poorest laborer here is far better off than college professors of Europe."

R. G. Jenkins, Exalted Ruler of the local Elks lodge presented an Elks American flag to each one of the new citizens and completed the impressive ceremony by quoting "Who Named You Old Glory."

Women of various patriotic organizations of the city served a splendid lunch after the program. Mrs. M. Carmichiel and Mrs. R. T. Campbell were in charge. It was the opinion of many that this was the most successful program and lunch that has been given for the benefit of the new fledged citizens for many years.

RELIEF APPEAL NOW DOUBLED

Wm. M. Baxter, Jr., Wires Mrs. J. A. Thabes That County Quota is Now $1,000

CITIZENS ASKED TO AID

Blacksmith Department of Northern Pacific Railway Shops Donate $43.75 Today

The appeal for flood relief in the south has been doubled, that is the figures set at $5,000,000 have been doubled to $10,000,000. So great is the disaster, with added dark chapters accumulating every hour, that it may go down in history as the worst flood ever occurring.

Up to yesterday donations as given to the Brainerd Dispatch office to be transmitted to the Red Cross Chapter here, totalled $167.

This morning a young lady brought in the first donation from the Northern Pacific railway shops, the blacksmith department having contributed $43.75. This donation, in fact all donations received, are most gratefully acknowledged by the Red Cross. It is hoped the example set by the blacksmiths of the shops will be emulated by other organizations throughout the city.

In the telegram sent Mrs. Thabes, who is president of the Brainerd Chapter, Wm. M. Baxter, Jr., said: "Upon recommendation Hoover following completion of survey disaster area Red Cross Central Committee decided that in view of the vast increase of the flooded area that the emergency situation now demands a minimum of $10,000,000. This doubles the quota already assigned your Chapter.

"If you have already raised double your quota, continue efforts to secure as large an amount as possible. Extend your appeal to all communities in your Chapter jurisdiction. We are confident we can depend upon a continuation of your local and devoted efforts in this crisis."

Accordingly Mrs. Thabes will broaden this appeal to not only include Brainerd, but every section of Crow Wing county. The St. Cloud Chapter takes in Stearns county and Brainerd Chapter may well follow that example, the quotas being the same, by taking in all Crow Wing county.

It is reported that more money is being gathered and the act of the Blacksmiths will furnish the necessary incentive to stimulate others in giving freely and quickly.

Receipt of all funds by the Brainerd Dispatch is acknowledged by being printed in the paper. After such publication the money is turned over to the Brainerd Chapter of the Red Cross.

Dreams in a Corner

By A. W. PEACH

(Copyright.)

MARGERY—for a very good reason of her own—usually sought the little table at the back of the avenue cafe. There, with a wall behind her and one beside her, she felt secure. It was a quiet little place, neatly arranged and well-kept, and well patronized at breakfast by business men and young women who later took the subway downtown.

A place where a simple and appetising breakfast could be found at a reasonable price—that was all the cafe represented to her, until that morning when HE entered and sat down not far from her, glanced at her with eyes that looked as if they had never gazed at any one except in kindness, and then turned to his newspaper.

She stole a swift glance or two at him. There was a little glint of gray at his temples, his face was gentle and yet suggestive of quiet strength—the face of a man who had lived bravely through tempestuous times and had emerged without losing faith.

"I could love a man like that—if he loved me," she thought to herself, and then woke up—"Foolish! day-dreaming in a cafe! When he sees you as you are, he'll never look again."

She waited until he had gone by the broad window, then she left her table and limped slowly to the same desk.

That was her grief—the crippled ankle that, like a stroke of fate, had taken her girlhood and almost her courage. But by the time she had reached her chair behind her desk in the drug store, she had put thoughts of him aside tenderly as one lays cherished things in lavender.

He came the next morning, however, and many mornings after that. He had his regular breakfast time, she found, and she timed her appearance with his, always taking care to leave after his departure, not before.

Then came the morning when the peaceful little cafe filled suddenly with strangers, and Margery guessed that they were delegates to the convention to be held in one of the nearby halls. He came in in his quiet, serene way, and at the quick leap of her heart she shifted her eyes.

"Miss, may we put a chair at your table?" She awoke to hear the smiling Japanese head-waiter ask.

She nodded—and there HE was with her.

"I am sorry to crowd in at your private corner," he said smiling, "but it seemed to be a matter of breaking into your corner or breaking out without breakfast. I hope you'll forgive my intrusion."

"I do forgive," she answered, a bit breathlessly.

It was a golden moment, and golden minutes followed in which his comradeship made her feel that she had known him a long time. She chatted and gossiped with him, happy in his companionship.

Then the spell broke. Just before he left, he paused, and his clear, open eyes held hers. "I wonder if you would like to take in one of the concerts with me tonight? I am betting you like music from what you have said. Does it appeal to you? I really should like to know you, and in this whopping big city there's no one to give us a formal introduction."

Before she thought, she agreed, and she listened to his plans. The moment he had gone she remembered, and the world grew gray about her.

All that day she pondered ways and means of escape, but in the end with a sob choked bravely back, she vowed to herself: "I will go! I will go! I've been cheated of so much happiness—I want just this wee bit!"

She waited his coming that night with fear, yet with resignation. She would have two happy hours with him; then she would tuck them away among her memories. "And I just know he will be kind to me!" she told herself.

He was. Her lameness he seemed to take for granted, he aided her through the evening so inconspicuously that she almost forgot the dark corner in her life. She reveled in the music, for she made her love of music fill empty places in her days; and his mood and enjoyment were in tune with hers.

Then, afterwards, he took her to his apartment where she found his mother, motherly and kind, ready with an attractive lunch. They played together some of the easier selections they had heard earlier. And when the time for her departure came, she was on the verge of tears.

In the corridor, as he drew her wrap about her, he must have guessed her mood because he said gently: "Have you had a happy evening?"

She stood silent, knowing tears would come before speech.

She felt his arm go about her gently, then as if divining her thoughts he said tenderly: "Now listen and give heed, little lady with the brave eyes. I want to see more of you—tomorrow and days beyond tomorrow. I asked that the waiter give me a seat with you. Next time I want to come because you want me to, and—promise you won't try to escape me!"

She nodded a dark head, and something in her heart sang to her that there would be memories and memories to come—and none to be folded away in lavender.

HOW THEY FEEL

"What do you think of the suggestion that bachelors be paid only half what married men get?" asked Mrs. Grouch.

"I don't give a whoop what they pay bachelors," growled her husband, "but I think married men ought to be paid 100 times more than they are unless they can get wives to want 100 times less than they do."

Undertook Mr. Jones

Jim and Andy were discussing the death of a friend.

Jim said—Andy, who gwine to bury Mr. Jones?

Andy replied—I don't know who gwine bury him, but Mr. Smith undertook him.

She—What makes that Mexican friend of yours such a giddy chap?

He—The revolution he's been through, my dear.—Detroit Free Press.

Why He Was Sure

She—Are you sure it was a year ago today that we became engaged?

He—Oh, yes. I looked it up in my check book this morning.

ONLY PINNING HIS PIN

First College Man—You are certainly not pinning your faith on a girl like her?

Second Ditto—Oh, no, just pinning my fraternity pin on her.

Ditch the Frown

When all the world looks wrong,
And nothing seems worth while,
The only thing to do
Is ditch the frown and smile.

That's Economy

The Schweppes had twins. Father Schweppe was a very thrifty man, and as he saw the doctor about to weigh the babies he called after him:

"Put both on the scales and divide by two, doctor!"—Berlin Lustige Blaetter.

Almost the Limit

Jean's Father—Can you give my daughter all the luxuries to which she is accustomed?

Jean's Lover—Not much longer. I've been doing it for more than a year, you know.

Tempest Brewing

Mr. Stinger—Jane, I am going to take that car out in the yard and fix it, or bust it.

Mrs. Stinger—Why, John, just think of the neighbors—and you baptized only last Sunday morning.

BIG JOB FOR A WEAK MAN

He—Good-by—I think I'll take this street home.

She—Better think again—that's a big job for a weak man.

Sown His Wild Oats

When a fellow looks seedy,
It always promotes
The thought that indeed he
Has sown his wild oats.

Answered

He (feeling his way)—Do you think one could marry on fifteen hundred a year?

She—One couldn't marry me.

His Reason

"Well, what did you beat him for?"

"Why, because he isn't as strong as I am."

Rehearsal Amenities

Henry Russel has been writing some reminiscences of the opera. We quote from his book an anecdote concerning Puccini: "He was by nature a modest and retiring man, but like most eminent musicians quickly lost his temper if the singers altered the time of his music. It happened that Caruso was in one of his most jovial moods. He was rehearsing Rodolfo's famous aria in the first act and took some of the phrases too slowly to please Puccini, who, when the great tenor came to the words: 'Chi son? Chi son?' (Who am I? Who am I?) shouted out in an impatient voice: 'Sen un imbecille!' (You are a fool!)

"Needless to say, every one roared with laughter, in which the composer and tenor heartily joined."—Boston Transcript.

Training for High Office

Special courses for training advisers of girls and deans of women have been established in at least twenty-four higher institutions in the United States, as shown by a survey conducted by the National Association of Deans of Women. Courses vary somewhat in the different institutions. In ten institutions, courses in relation to the high school only are available; in six courses in relation to higher educational institutions as well as to high schools are offered. In others the particular field of interest was not stated. The dean of women is the instructor in charge in nearly all the institutions, and replies from nineteen indicate that credit of from one to six semester hours is granted.

Gets Long-Delayed Trip

Ten years ago Mrs. A. D. V. Wedemeyer, of Liberty, N. Y., paid 30 cents for three chances for the first prize at a church bazaar and won, securing the privilege of a round trip to Europe on a German line. Because of the World war and submarines Mrs. Wedemeyer decided she would not take the trip and put her coupon in her desk and eventually forgot about it. In the last year relatives in Germany invited her to visit them. Mrs. Wedemeyer thought she could not afford it until her daughter reminded her that she had won a free passage. She found the coupon and asked the steamship line if it would still be honored. The company assured her that it would.

Deserters Lived in Cave

Deserting the army in September, 1914, two brothers of Freisoinieres, France, fled to the inner fastness of the higher Alps, and numerous expeditions of gendarmes failed to locate their hiding place. After more than thirteen years the deserters have been arrested. Believing gendarmes were no longer seeking them, the brothers boldly descended to the nearby village of Vollins and attended church service. Told of their appearance, the police rushed into the church and overpowered them. The thirteen years had been spent in a cave.

GOITRE CAUSED

Pressing Choking Feeling. Minnesota Lady Relieved by Stainless Liniment.

Corinne Eagen, 3100 Longfellow Ave., S. Minneapolis, Minn., says: "I have used Sorbol Quadruple six weeks. Felt relief the first few applications. That pressing choking feeling has entirely disappeared. You may use my testimonial."

Sold at all drug stores or write Sorbol Company, Mechanicsburg, Ohio. Locally at Johnson's Pharmacy. —Advt.

Corns

Lift Off—No Pain!

Doesn't hurt one bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers.

Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the foot calluses, without soreness or irritation. —Advt.

Piles Disappear

No Cutting or Salves Needed

External treatments seldom banish Piles and for the very good reason that the cause is inside — bad circulation in affected parts, veins are flabby and bowel walls weakened.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send fresh, healthy blood to the raw, sensitive membranes. Internal treatment is one safe method. Ointments and other external treatments can't give lasting relief.

J. S. Leonhardt, M. D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and it has proven successful in thousands of cases—so successful that now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists under a money back guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at H. P. Dunn's and Johnson's Pharmacy, who will promptly refund the purchase price if you are dissatisfied. —Advt.

Great Financial Concern

One of America's large life insurance companies has assets greater than those of the Bank of England.

Who is Your Skinny Friend, Ethel?

Tell him that the quick easy way to put pounds of solid flesh on his bones is to take McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets.

Tell him it's the modern way to take nasty tasting, stomach upsetting cod liver oil—that these tablets are rich in vitamines and besides helping him to fill out his flat chest and sunken cheeks and neck that the vitalizing vitamines in McCoy's will make him strong and vigorous and give him more ambition.

Tell him that he can get 60 tablets for 60 cents at Johnson's Pharmacy, Economy Drug Co. or any druggist anywhere and that if he isn't delighted after a 30 day test he can have his money back. Be sure he demands McCoy's, the original and genuine. There are imitations just as there is counterfeit money. —Advt.

Tender, Aching, Swollen Feet

In Just Five Minutes Those Sore, Tender, Aching Feet Get Amazing Relief. Moone's Emerald Oil is Guaranteed.

Go to Skauge Drug Co., H. P. Dunn or any other good druggist today and get an original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil.

The very first application will give you relief and a few short treatments will thoroughly convince you that by sticking faithfully to it for a short while your foot troubles will be a thing of the past.

Don't expect a single bottle to do it all at once but one bottle we know will show you beyond all question that you have at last discovered the way to solid foot comfort.

Remember that Moone's Emerald Oil is a clean, powerful, penetrating Antiseptic Oil that does not stain or leave a greasy residue and that it must give complete satisfaction or your money cheerfully refunded. —Advt

IF RHEUMATIC BEGIN ON SALTS

Says We Must Keep Feet Dry, Avoid Exposure, Eat No Sweets.

Stay off the damp ground, avoid exposure, keep feet dry, eat no sweets of any kind for a while, drink lots of water and above all take a spoonful of Jad Salts occasionally to help keep down uric and toxic acids.

Rheumatism is caused by poison toxins, called acids, which are generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine. The pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work; they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this poison, which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain, called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is helpful to neutralize acidity, remove body waste, also to stimulate the kidneys, thus helping to rid the blood of these rheumatic poisons.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism. —Advt.

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold. Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients for only 75 cents, all ready for use.

It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous. —Advt.

Dreams in a Corner

By A. W. PEACH

(Copyright.)

MARGERY—for a very good reason of her own—usually sought the little table at the back of the avenue cafe. There, with a wall behind her and one beside her, she felt secure. It was a quiet little place, neatly arranged and well-kept, and well patronized at breakfast by business men and young women who later took the subway downtown.

A place where a simple and appetising breakfast could be found at a reasonable price—that was all the cafe represented to her, until that morning when HE entered and sat down not far from her, glanced at her with eyes that looked as if they had never gazed at any one except in kindness, and then turned to his newspaper.

She stole a swift glance or two at him. There was a little glint of gray at his temples, his face was gentle and yet suggestive of quiet strength—the face of a man who had lived bravely through tempestuous times and had emerged without losing faith.

"I could love a man like that—if he loved me," she thought to herself, and then woke up—"Foolish! day-dreaming in a cafe! When he sees you as you are, he'll never look again."

She waited until he had gone by the broad window, then she left her table and limped slowly to the same desk.

That was her grief—the crippled ankle that, like a stroke of fate, had taken her girlhood and almost her courage. But by the time she had reached her chair behind her desk in the drug store, she had put thoughts of him aside tenderly as one lays cherished things in lavender.

He came the next morning, however, and many mornings after that. He had his regular breakfast time, she found, and she timed her appearance with his, always taking care to leave after his departure, not before.

Then came the morning when the peaceful little cafe filled suddenly with strangers, and Margery guessed that they were delegates to the convention to be held in one of the nearby halls. He came in in his quiet, serene way, and at the quick leap of her heart she shifted her eyes.

"Miss, may we put a chair at your table?" She awoke to hear the smiling Japanese head-waiter ask.

She nodded—and there HE was with her.

"I am sorry to crowd in at your private corner," he said smiling, "but it seemed to be a matter of breaking into your corner or breaking out without breakfast. I hope you'll forgive my intrusion."

"I do forgive," she answered, a bit breathlessly.

It was a golden moment, and golden minutes followed in which his comradeship made her feel that she had known him a long time. She chatted and gossiped with him, happy in his companionship.

Then the spell broke. Just before he left, he paused, and his clear, open eyes held hers. "I wonder if you would like to take in one of the concerts with me tonight? I am betting you like music from what you have said. Does it appeal to you? I really should like to know you, and in this whopping big city there's no one to give us a formal introduction."

Before she thought, she agreed, and she listened to his plans. The moment he had gone she remembered, and the world grew gray about her.

All that day she pondered ways and means of escape, but in the end with a sob choked bravely back, she vowed to herself: "I will go! I will go! I've been cheated of so much happiness—I want just this wee bit!"

She waited his coming that night with fear, yet with resignation. She would have two happy hours with him; then she would tuck them away among her memories. "And I just know he will be kind to me!" she told herself.

He was. Her lameness he seemed to take for granted, he aided her through the evening so inconspicuously that she almost forgot the dark corner in her life. She reveled in the music, for she made her love of music fill empty places in her days; and his mood and enjoyment were in tune with hers.

Then, afterwards, he took her to his apartment where she found his mother, motherly and kind, ready with an attractive lunch. They played together some of the easier selections they had heard earlier. And when the time for her departure came, she was on the verge of tears.

In the corridor, as he drew her wrap about her, he must have guessed her mood because he said gently: "Have you had a happy evening?"

She stood silent, knowing tears would come before speech.

She felt his arm go about her gently, then as if divining her thoughts he said tenderly: "Now listen and give heed, little lady with the brave eyes. I want to see more of you—tomorrow and days beyond tomorrow. I asked that the waiter give me a seat with you. Next time I want to come because you want me to, and—promise you won't try to escape me!"

She nodded a dark head, and something in her heart sang to her that there would be memories and memories to come—and none to be folded away in lavender.

HOW THEY FEEL

"What do you think of the suggestion that bachelors be paid only half what married men get?" asked Mrs. Grouch.

"I don't give a whoop what they pay bachelors," growled her husband, "but I think married men ought to be paid 100 times more than they are unless they can get wives to want 100 times less than they do."

Undertook Mr. Jones

Jim and Andy were discussing the death of a friend.

Jim said—Andy, who gwine to bury Mr. Jones?

Andy replied—I don't know who gwine bury him, but Mr. Smith undertook him.

(Mr. Smith was the undertaker).—The Outlook.

Accounted For

She—What makes that Mexican friend of yours such a giddy chap?

He—The revolution he's been through, my dear.—Detroit Free Press.

Why He Was Sure

She—Are you sure it was a year ago today that we became engaged?

He—Oh, yes. I looked it up in my check book this morning.

ONLY PINNING HIS PIN

First College Man—You are certainly not pinning your faith on a girl like her?

Second Ditto—Oh, no, just pinning my fraternity pin on her.

Ditch the Frown

When all the world looks wrong,
And nothing seems worth while,
The only thing to do
Is ditch the frown and smile.

That's Economy

The Schweppes had twins. Father Schweppe was a very thrifty man, and as he saw the doctor about to weigh the babies he called after him:

"Put both on the scales and divide by two, doctor!"—Berlin Lustige Blaetter.

Almost the Limit

Jean's Father—Can you give my daughter all the luxuries to which she is accustomed?

Jean's Lover—Not much longer. I've been doing it for more than a year, you know.

Tempest Brewing

Mr. Stinger—Jane, I am going to take that car out in the yard and fix it, or bust it.

Mrs. Stinger—Why, John, just think of the neighbors—and you baptized only last Sunday morning.

BIG JOB FOR A WEAK MAN

He—Good-by—I think I'll take this street some.

She—Better think again—that's a big job for a weak man.

Sown His Wild Oats

When a fellow looks seedy,
It always promotes
The thought that indeed he
Has sown his wild oats.

Answered

He (feeling his way)—Do you think one could marry on fifteen hundred a year?

She—One couldn't marry me.

His Reason

"Well, what did you beat him for?"

"Why, because he isn't as strong as I am."

Rehearsal Amenities

Henry Russel has been writing some reminiscences of the opera. We quote from his book an anecdote concerning Puccini: "He was by nature a modest and retiring man, but like most eminent musicians quickly lost his temper if the singers altered the time of his music. It happened that Caruso was in one of his most jovial moods. He was rehearsing Rodolfo's famous aria in the first act and took some of the phrases too slowly to please Puccini, who, when the great tenor came to the words: 'Chi son? Chi son?' (Who am I? Who am I?) shouted out in an impatient voice: 'Sen un imbecille!' (You are a fool!)

"Needless to say, every one roared with laughter, in which the composer and tenor heartily joined."—Boston Transcript.

Training for High Office

Special courses for training advisers of girls and deans of women have been established in at least twenty-four higher institutions in the United States, as shown by a survey conducted by the National Association of Deans of Women. Courses vary somewhat in the different institutions. In ten institutions, courses in relation to the high school only are available; in six courses in relation to higher educational institutions as well as to high schools are offered. In others the particular field of interest was not stated. The dean of women is the instructor in charge in nearly all the institutions, and replies from nineteen indicate that credit of from one to six semester hours is granted.

Gets Long-Delayed Trip

Ten years ago Mrs. A. D. V. Wedemeyer, of Liberty, N. Y., paid 30 cents for three chances for the first prize at a church bazaar and won, securing the privilege of a round trip to Europe on a German line. Because of the World war and submarines Mrs. Wedemeyer decided she would not take the trip and put her coupon in her desk and eventually forgot about it. In the last year relatives in Germany invited her to visit them. Mrs. Wedemeyer thought she could not afford it until her daughter reminded her that she had won a free passage. She found the coupon and asked the steamship line if it would still be honored. The company assured her that it would.

Deserters Lived in Cave

Deserting the army in September, 1914, two brothers of Freisoinieres, France, fled to the inner fastness of the higher Alps, and numerous expeditions of gendarmes failed to locate their hiding place. After more than thirteen years the deserters have been arrested. Believing gendarmes were no longer seeking them, the brothers boldly descended to the nearby village of Voillins and attended church service. Told of their appearance, the police rushed into the church and overpowered them. The thirteen years had been spent in a cave.

GOITRE CAUSED

Piles Disappear

No Cutting or Salves Needed

External treatments seldom banish Piles and for the very good reason that the cause is inside — bad circulation in affected parts, veins are flabby and bowel walls weakened.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send fresh, healthy blood to the raw, sensitive membranes. Internal treatment is one safe method. Ointments and other external treatments can't give lasting relief.

J. S. Leonhardt, M. D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and it has proven successful in thousands of cases—so successful that now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists under a money back guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at H. P. Dunn's and Johnson's Pharmacy, who will promptly refund the purchase price if you are dissatisfied. —Advt.

Corns

Lift Off—No Pain!

Doesn't hurt one bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers.

Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the foot calluses, without soreness or irritation. —Advt.

Go to Skauge Drug Co., H. P. Dunn or any other good druggist today and get an original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil.

The very first application will give you relief and a few short treatments will thoroughly convince you that by sticking faithfully to it for a short while your foot troubles will be a thing of the past.

Don't expect a single bottle to do it all at once but one bottle we know will show you beyond all question that you have at last discovered the way to solid foot comfort.

Remember that Moone's Emerald Oil is a clean, powerful, penetrating Antiseptic Oil that does not stain or leave a greasy residue and that it must give complete satisfaction or your money cheerfully refunded. —Advt

IF RHEUMATIC BEGIN ON SALTS

Says We Must Keep Feet Dry, Avoid Exposure, Eat No Sweets.

Stay off the damp ground, avoid exposure, keep feet dry, eat no sweets of any kind for a while, drink lots of water and above all take a spoonful of Jad Salts occasionally to help keep down uric and toxic acids.

Rheumatism is caused by poison toxins, called acids, which are generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine. The pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work; they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this poison, which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain, called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is helpful to neutralize acidity, remove body waste, also to stimulate the kidneys, thus helping to rid the blood of these rheumatic poisons.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism. —Advt.

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold. Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients for only 75 cents, all ready for use.

It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous. —Advt.

DELEGATES FROM WORLD GRAIN CENTERS MEET

CO-OPERATION IN WORLD MARKETING OF WHEAT CROP

REPRESENTATIVES OF WHEAT FARMERS DISCUSSING PROBLEMS

ASSEMBLE FROM FOUR NATIONS AT KANSAS CITY, MO.

Kansas City, Mo., May 5.—(UP)—Assembling from the grain centers of the world, representatives of wheat farmers of the United States, Canada, Russia and Australia today will organize for a discussion of the problem of world co-operation of marketing of that crop.

The international wheat pool conference is getting ready this morning for a meeting which, it is believed, will prove one of the most important to wheat growers in the history of that crop. The morning will be devoted to appointment of committees and the hearing of reports by the secretary.

Delegates to the meeting are hopeful of working out a co-operative plan of marketing whereby the interests of the United States, Canada, Argentine, Australia and Russia may be co-ordinated into one. While the delegates are not decided as yet what form of co-operation will be brought about, all are confident that some means by which the interests of the units may be confirmed into a whole will be decided upon.

Some form of plan whereby the farmers in one country may be protected in bad years will be decided upon. One member expressed the opinion that agreements would be worked out whereby no nation would place its export wheat on sale in another country at the time that nation was harvesting its crop.

The nine individual wheat pools of the United States were represented at a meeting yesterday, at which time a proposal was made for the combining of the nine groups into one national pool, much on the Canadian plan.

The national pool would own the principal grain elevators of the country, under the plan. The bulk of the wheat crop of the United States would be handled by this national organization.

E. R. Downie, Wichita, Kans., secretary of the national conference, proposed that the resolutions committee draft such a proposal for presentation to the nine state pools now in existence.

Downie cited as an excellent reason for so doing the growth of the Canadian pool, which he said, has acquired 600 elevators during the last three years. Australia, too, he said, is far ahead of the United States in this field.

Federal aid would be sought in the development of the national pool. Congress would be asked for aid in building elevators, storage plants and equipment.

The new national committee of the pools, decided last night, is composed of: W. B. Bosworth, Minnesota; Bruce Lampson, Colorado; C. W. Groes, South Dakota; John Manley, Oklahoma; Ernest Frisell, Nebraska; E. R. Downie, Kansas; B. B. Benner; Indiana; A. J. Scott, North Dakota, and Judge L. Gough, Texas.

Big Japanese Project

The Daido Denryoyoku Kabushiki Kaisha of Tokyo have formed the Hokuriku Soden Kabushiki Kaisha (Hokuriku Electric Power Transmission Company, Ltd.), with a capital of 40,000,000 yen for a 50,000-kilowatt development on the Sho river in Toyama prefecture. It is estimated that power stations will cost the company about 22,000,000 yen, and 18,000,000 yen will be spent for transmission lines (154,000 volts) to Osaka. (The yen is now worth 48 cents.) The project will be completed early in 1929.

Helping Erring Youth

The Windsor state reformatory at Green Bay is not a place of punishment, but a place where youths are "corrected and morally remodeled," and they are welcome to all the fun they get out of life there, according to officials of the institution. So they flooded the baseball diamond to provide an acre and a half skating rink, which the boys enjoy for a 90-minute period each day. Skates have been bought out of the school athletic fund, raised by candy sales.—Exchange.

HEDDA HOYT TELLS--- ABOUT CHIFFON AND LACE

By HEDDA HOYT

New York, May 5.—(UP)—Chiffon and lace combinations are those most coveted for afternoon gowns this season. While chiffon or lace used singly are not being sponsored by smart women, the combination of the two materials is extremely well liked. The lace may form the main portion of the gown with chiffon used as trimming or vice versa. For instance, lace frocks may use skirt-tiers, sashes or boleros of chiffon. Or the chiffon frock may use tiers, sash and bolero of lace.

Where chiffon is the main basis of the gown, tiny pintucks used either horizontally or vertically are often noted. Pintucking is especially effective on black chiffon and at present we see much of the black chiffon and lace combinations. Monkeyskin and beige chiffon and lace combinations are also well liked. One very lovely afternoon gown combines black lace with beige lace in an unusual manner. The gown is of black lace with a bolero and skirt tiers of beige lace. Sleeves are long and scant. A somewhat similar gown is made of black lace with a wide knee-flounce of deep ecru lace. Black chiffon and lace frocks are generally posed over flesh foundations.

Next in importance to black chiffon comes gayly printed chiffons trimmed in black lace. Chiffons using cerise and purple flower combinations are trimmed in black lace in one smart shop. In fact, we have seen almost every gay color combination of chiffon augmenting its smartness with the use of black lace.

Soft blue chiffons trimmed in matching laces are also well represented this season. Monotone effects in chiffon and lace are perhaps a bit smarter at evening time than for afternoon wear. Nothing takes the place of chiffon for summer evening occasions. It seems odd that these very sheer chiffons wear as well as they do. Often they will outwear a heavy crepe dress.

Of course, the straw hat is the smartest one which can be worn with the chiffon and lace frock. Hats may either be small or large although accent is being placed on wide-brimmed hats for summer wear this year. Such hats are very scantily trimmed. They must harmonize in color with the frock to be chic.

EWING SHIFTS CENTER OF HIS PRAYER MEETING

RELIGIONIST SELECTS ST. PAUL IN PREFERENCE TO TAMARACK

PROGRAM ANNOUNCED FOR THE "WORDLESS SILENCE" DEMONSTRATION

Tamarack, Minn., May 5.—(UP)—Vernon Ewing, religionist, has widened his program for his "wordless silence" demonstration to include followers of his faith throughout the world. The center of the prayer meetings is to be in St. Paul when he holds 10-minute services of silent devotion.

August 1 has been set by Ewing as the date when his followers are to seek "roofless locations at 11 A. M. and await response from the heavens."

Heavy rain last fall caused the members of the cult to disperse when they went into the woods near here and bowed their heads in prayer.

Ewing was not discouraged and immediately set about to plan demonstrations in all parts fo the country simultaneously. Petitions are being distributed and Ewing has received replies from all sections submitting to his wishes and telling of plans to join the cult in the "wordless silence" meeting.

In extending invitations Ewing made one request. He asked that "where possible the assemblages be held in the open air or other places where there is no sectarian tinge to prevent attendance."

The leader of the cult, which he claims has created wide interest, says many clergymen of various sects and beliefs from many parts of Minnesota have approved the plans for the demonstration.

"As far as I can learn, the faith and belief of the world is already united but doctrinal differences has prevented its demonstration in a brotherly way," Ewing said in commenting on the purposes of the "wordless silence."

Many persons, he said, desire to know the results beforehand. "As far as I can understand, it is humanly impossible to know the results before. We can only know that demonstrations of faith and belief in God, Christ and the Holy Spirit has brought response in the past regardless of how the demonstrations were made," he explained.

Relics of Bronze Age

While widening a road near London, England, workmen disclosed a circular area, obviously artificial, covered by a setting of rough stones. After measurements had been taken it became clear that the remains were the foundation of a round cairn of the Bronze age, probably some 4,000 years old, and long ante-dating the Roman fort situated a few hundred yards to the southeast.

Believed Site of Mizpah

Broken statuettes of the Babylonian goddess Astarte against whose worship the prophet Jeremiah warned the Israelites, have been found by excavators at Tell-en-Nasbeth, a mound situated on a hill seven miles north of Jerusalem. The excavators are convinced they have discovered the site of the Mizpah of Benjamin, one of the greatest and most heavily fortified citadels of pre-Exile days.

Crow Lost Its Prey

Startled by a peculiar noise, Mrs. James Hennessey of Hillsboro, N. H., looked out of the window just in time to see a crow flying low with a partridge clutched tightly in its talons. Mr. Hennessey gave chase, and the bird, hampered with the weight of the partridge, dropped it and escaped. The partridge soon died, however.

Uncle Sam Runs Still

In a certain building in Washington, belonging to the Treasury department, the government is running a corn whisky still. Nothing, however, comes out of it now except pure, harmless water. Confiscated in a raid and turned over to the Treasury department garage, the apparatus is used to distill water for government storage batteries.—Popular Science Monthly.

Bertaud, Chamberlin Set Saturday for Take-off to Paris

Curtis Field, L. I., May 5.—(UP)—Lloyd W. Bertaud and Clarence Chamberlin today set Saturday for their take-off for Paris, if weather conditions are right.

The daring airmen, piloting the little Bellanca monoplane which already has proved its worth in a 51-hour endurance flight, had completed their preparations for defying the jinx which has beset trans-Atlantic flights for a year, and the plane was declared to be in perfect condition.

Ships at sea reported two storms over the Atlantic, however, and it was feared the flight might have to be postponed.

No Written Records of the Celtic Race

That the Celts, at the time of the invasion by Julius Caesar of what is now England and Wales, had any written records there is great reason to doubt, although there are inscriptions on certain rude stone monuments in parts of Wales, as in the southeastern counties of Munster, Ireland, consisting of long and short lines, known as Ogamic characters, the antiquity of which is not well determined.

As far as deciphered these inscriptions throw no direct light on the origin of the Celtic race. Their spoken language, reduced to writing after the introduction of Christianity, is the only key of any importance to their origin. This plainly marks them as an early offshoot of the Aryan family, the common Asiatic stock from which all the western races of Europe have descended.

The descriptions left by the Romans of the aborigines of Britain at the time of the Roman conquest represent them as fierce, cruel barbarians. Neither Caesar's commentaries nor the writings of Tacitus and other historians of the period of the Roman domination convey evidence that the Britons had any knowledge of letters until the Roman and Greek characters were taught them. Neither do these historians preserve any oral traditions of the British bards or druids which might shed light on the early history of the Celtic race.

VANZETTI IN APPEAL FOR JUSTICE IN CASE

REMARKABLE PETITION ADDED TO GREAT STACK OF DOCUMENTS

FILED WITH GOVERNOR ALVIN T. FULLER OF MASSACHUSETTS

Boston, May 5—(UP)—A remarkable petition signed Bartolomeo Vanzetti asking "not for mercy but for justice" for him and Nicola Sacco today had been added to the great stack of documents before Governor Alvin T. Fuller.

The governor is asked to order an investigation of the conviction of the fishmonger and shoemaker on charges of murdering two men in a payroll robbery in South Braintree, Mass.

With Vanzetti's petition were filed six affidavits charging Judge Webster Thayer, before whom Sacco and Vanzetti were tried, with grave offenses against judicial ethics.

Sacco did not sign the petition. He had become convinced, attorneys for the men explained, that it would be against his beliefs and principles as an anarchist to ask the governor to intervene to save him from death. Seven years of imprisonment for a crime he denies have reduced him to a condition of discouragement, and he no longer cares to fight for life, it was said. But the petition spoke for both, and the governor was asked to consider it as coming from both.

The appeal was some 7,000 words long. It was written by Vanzetti himself, almost entirely. At times it is dramatic in its language. At other times the halting knowledge of English possessed by the writer caused the meanings to be obscure, but such instances only accentuated the drama of the appeal.

It represented what may be the last word a man condemned to die may be able to say in a desperate effort to save himself.

The document reaffirms the faith of the petitioner in the philosophy of anarchy which is described as aimed to promote human progress and eliminate all forms of violence and oppression.

"For this cause we are willing to suffer and die but not for the low and sordid South Braintree crime," it dramatically asserts.

Vanzetti recited again the often-repeated charges of prejudicial rulings by the judge, of bias, of unfair exhibitions of contempt toward counsel for the defense.

The six affidavits charged Judge Thayer with commenting on the case vindictively outside the court room while the strike was in progress. They were signed by Robert Benchley, dramatic editor of "Life," George U. Crocker, Boston newspaperman; Mrs. Louis B. Rantoul, sociologist; and Elizabeth Bernkopf, Frank B. Sibley and John Nicholas Beffel, newspapermen.

"We had nothing to do with the South Braintree murder," the petition continued. "Our instincts abhor and our principles condemn such a crime."

WEST OAK LAWN

Mr. and Mrs. Nicely of Brainerd and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Schwringer of Brainerd were visitors at E. Laughton's at east Oak street Sunday.

The Willing Oak Leaves sewing club met at Edward Nelson's Friday evening. Mrs. H. Congdon and Mrs. Strong were reappointed leaders for the project which will be taken up this summer. A dainty lunch was served after the meeting.

Mrs. Ralph Tenny of Minneapolis arrived Monday to visit this week, at the home of H. Congdon's, Mr. Congdon being her brother.

Leonard Sorsveen of Minneapolis visited Saturday and Sunday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Sorsveen. He returned to the cities Monday morning.

Florence Tenney and Florence Leiri motored down from Superior Saturday to visit at the home of H. Congdon's.

NEW ULM TO WELCOME THE GERMAN ENVOY

BARON VON MALTZAN TO VISIT THE COMMUNITY FRIDAY

HUGE DEMONSTRATION BEING PLANNED IN THE CITY

New Ulm, Minn., May 5.—(UP)—This community which has for most of its population persons of German descent and many who spent their younger life in the foreign country, is preparing to welcome Baron Von Maltzan, German ambassador to the United States, Friday.

New Ulm is known as one of the largest centers of German life in Minnesota. A huge demonstration is being planned.

The ambassador is in Minneapolis today as guest of organizations in that city. Reports here of a successful reception accorded the dignitary upon his arrival in St. Paul on Wednesday have spurred residents here to greater efforts to make his visit to New Ulm noteworthy.

From New Ulm Baron Adolph Von Maltzan will go to St. Cloud and Collegeville where plans are also under way for receiving the foreign diplomat.

Stormy Body of Water

Euxine was the ancient name for the Black sea in southern Russia and connected with the Mediterranean sea by the Bosphorus, the sea of Marmora and the Dardanelles. Euxine, a Greek word, means inhospitable, and the sea was so-called because of its treacherous weather and sudden and severe storms.

Standardization in Service

THE manufacturing of equipment for the Bell System was one of the earliest, and is now among the outstanding examples of the standardization and quantity production which are distinctive characteristics of American industry.

Quantity production for the nation-wide Bell System makes it possible to put into every item of telephone equipment better material and better workmanship, at a lower cost to the telephone user, than could otherwise be done. But the dominant advantage of uniform manufacturing, under standard specifications, lies in the improvement of the service.

Every transmitter in the System is designed to work in harmony with every receiver all over the land and to co-ordinate with all the complicated equipment and lines behind. All can function at full efficiency for they are designed and manufactured for that purpose. Standardization, not only of equipment but of operating methods, is the only basis upon which it would be possible adequately to meet America's need of a nation-wide, universal telephone service.

DELEGATES FROM WORLD GRAIN CENTERS MEET

CO-OPERATION IN WORLD MARKETING OF WHEAT CROP

REPRESENTATIVES OF WHEAT FARMERS DISCUSSING PROBLEMS

ASSEMBLE FROM FOUR NATIONS AT KANSAS CITY, MO.

Kansas City, Mo., May 5.—(UP)—Assembling from the grain centers of the world, representatives of wheat farmers of the United States, Canada, Russia and Australia today will organize for a discussion of the problem of world co-operation of marketing of that crop.

The international wheat pool conference is getting ready this morning for a meeting which, it is believed, will prove one of the most important to wheat growers in the history of that crop. The morning will be devoted to appointment of committees and the hearing of reports by the secretary.

Delegates to the meeting are hopeful of working out a co-operative plan of marketing whereby the interests of the United States, Canada, Argentine, Australia and Russia may be co-ordinated into one. While the delegates are not decided as yet what form of co-operation will be brought about, all are confident that some means by which the interests of the units may be confirmed into a whole will be decided upon.

Some form of plan whereby the farmers in one country may be protected in bad years will be decided upon. One member expressed the opinion that agreements would be worked out whereby no nation would place its export wheat on sale in another country at the time that nation was harvesting its crop.

The nine individual wheat pools of the United States were represented at a meeting yesterday, at which time a proposal was made for the combining of the nine groups into one national pool, much on the Canadian plan.

The national pool would own the principal grain elevators of the country, under the plan. The bulk of the wheat crop of the United States would be handled by this national organization.

E. R. Downie, Wichita, Kans., secretary of the national conference, proposed that the resolutions committee draft such a proposal for presentation to the nine state pools now in existence.

Downie cited as an excellent reason for so doing the growth of the Canadian pool, which he said, has acquired 600 elevators during the last three years. Australia, too, he said, is far ahead of the United States in this field.

Federal aid would be scught in the development of the national pool. Congress would be asked for aid in building elevators, storage plants and equipment.

The new national committee of the pools, decided last night, is composed of: W. B. Bosworth, Minnesota; Bruce Lampson, Colorado; C. W. Groes, South Dakota; John Manley, Oklahoma; Ernest Frisell, Nebraska; E. R. Downie, Kansas; B. B. Benner: Indiana; A. J. Scott, North Dakota, and Judge L. Gough, Texas.

Big Japanese Project

The Daido Denroyoku Kabushiki Kaisha of Tokyo have formed the Hokuriku Soden Kabushiki Kaisha (Hokuriku Electric Power Transmission Company, Ltd.), with a capital of 40,000,000 yen for a 50,000-kilowatt development on the Sho river in Toyama prefecture. It is estimated that power stations will cost the company about 22,000,000 yen, and 18,000,000 yen will be spent for transmission lines (154,000 volts) to Osaka. (The yen is now worth 48 cents.) The project will be completed early in 1929.

Helping Erring Youth

The Windsor state reformatory at Green Bay is not a place of punishment, but a place where youths are "corrected and morally remodeled," and they are welcome to all the fun they get out of life there, according to officials of the institution. So they flooded the baseball diamond to provide an acre and a half skating rink, which the boys enjoy for a 90-minute period each day. Skates have been bought out of the school athletic fund, raised by candy sales.—Exchange.

HEDDA HOYT TELLS--- ABOUT CHIFFON AND LACE

By HEDDA HOYT

New York, May 5.—(UP)—Chiffon and lace combinations are those most coveted for afternoon gowns this season. While chiffon or lace used singly are not being sponsored by smart women, the combination of the two materials is extremely well liked. The lace may form the main portion of the gown with chiffon used as trimming or vice versa. For instance, lace frocks may use skirt-tiers, sashes or boleros of chiffon. Or the chiffon frock may use tiers, sash and bolero of lace.

Where chiffon is the main basis of the gown, tiny pintucks used either horizontally or vertically are often noted. Pintucking is especially effective on black chiffon and at present we see much of the black chiffon and lace combinations. Monkeyskin and beige chiffon and lace combinations are also well liked. One very lovely afternoon gown combines black lace with beige lace in an unusual manner. The gown is of black lace with a bolero and skirt tiers of beige lace. Sleeves are long and scant. A somewhat similar gown is made of black lace with a wide knee-flounce of deep ecru lace. Black chiffon and lace frocks are generally posed over flesh foundations.

Next in importance to black chiffon comes gayly printed chiffons trimmed in black lace. Chiffons using cerise and purple flower combinations are trimmed in black lace in one smart shop. In fact, we have seen almost every gay color combination of chiffon augmenting its smartness with the use of black lace.

Soft blue chiffons trimmed in matching laces are also well represented this season. Monotone effects in chiffon and lace are perhaps a bit smarter at evening time than for afternoon wear. Nothing takes the place of chiffon for summer evening occasions. It seems odd that these very sheer chiffons wear as well as they do. Often they will outwear a heavy crepe dress.

Of course, the straw hat is the smartest one which can be worn with the chiffon and lace frock. Hats may either be small or large although accent is being placed on wide-brimmed hats for summer wear this year. Such hats are very scantily trimmed. They must harmonize in color with the frock to be chic.

EWING SHIFTS CENTER OF HIS PRAYER MEETING

RELIGIONIST SELECTS ST. PAUL IN PREFERENCE TO TAMARACK

PROGRAM ANNOUNCED FOR THE "WORDLESS SILENCE" DEMONSTRATION

Tamarack, Minn., May 5.—(UP)—Vernon Ewing, religionist, has widened his program for his "wordless silence" demonstration to include followers of his faith throughout the world. The center of the prayer meetings is to be in St. Paul when he holds 10-minute services of silent devotion.

August 1 has been set by Ewing as the date when his followers are to seek "roofless locations at 11 A. M. and await response from the heavens."

Heavy rain last fall caused the members of the cult to disperse when they went into the woods near here and bowed their heads in prayer.

Ewing was not discouraged and immediately set about to plan demonstrations in all parts fo the country simultaneously. Petitions are being distributed and Ewing has received replies from all sections submitting to his wishes and telling of plans to join the cult in the "wordless silence" meeting.

In extending invitations Ewing made one request. He asked that "where possible the assemblages be held in the open air or other places where there is no sectarian tinge to prevent attendance."

The leader of the cult, which he claims has created wide interest, says many clergymen of various sects and beliefs from many parts of Minnesota have approved the plans for the demonstration.

"As far as I can learn, the faith and belief of the world is already united but doctrinal differences has prevented its demonstration in a brotherly way," Ewing said in commenting on the purposes of the "wordless silence."

Many persons, he said, desire to know the results beforehand. "As far as I can understand, it is humanly impossible to know the results before. We can only know that demonstrations of faith and belief in God, Christ and the Holy Spirit has brought response in the past regardless of how the demonstrations were made," he explained.

Relics of Bronze Age

While widening a road near London, England, workmen disclosed a circular area, obviously artificial, covered by a setting of rough stones. After measurements had been taken it became clear that the remains were the foundation of a round cairn of the Bronze age, probably some 4,000 years old, and long ante-dating the Roman fort situated a few hundred yards to the southeast.

Believed Site of Mizpah

Broken statuettes of the Babylonian goddess Astarte against whose worship the prophet Jeremiah warned the Israelites, have been found by excavators at Tell-en-Nasbeth, a mound situated on a hill seven miles north of Jerusalem. The excavators are convinced they have discovered the site of the Mizpah of Benjamin, one of the greatest and most heavily fortified citadels of pre-Exile days.

Crow Lost Its Prey

Startled by a peculiar noise, Mrs. James Hennessey of Hillsboro, N. H., looked out of the window just in time to see a crow flying low with a partridge clutched tightly in its talons. Mr. Hennessey gave chase, and the bird, hampered with the weight of the partridge, dropped it and escaped The partridge soon died, however.

Uncle Sam Runs Still

In a certain building in Washington, belonging to the Treasury department, the government is running a corn whisky still. Nothing, however, comes out of it now except pure, harmless water. Confiscated in a raid and turned over to the Treasury department garage, the apparatus is used to distill water for government storage batteries.—Popular Science Monthly.

Bertaud, Chamberlin Set Saturday for Take-off to Paris

Curtis Field, L. I., May 5.—(UP)—Lloyd W. Bertaud and Clarence Chamberlin today set Saturday for their take-off for Paris, if weather conditions are right.

The daring airmen, piloting the little Bellanca monoplane which already has proved its worth in a 51-hour endurance flight, had completed their preparations for defying the jinx which has beset trans-Atlantic flights for a year, and the plane was declared to be in perfect condition.

Ships at sea reported two storms over the Atlantic, however, and it was feared the flight might have to be postponed.

No Written Records of the Celtic Race

That the Celts, at the time of the invasion by Julius Caesar of what is now England and Wales, had any written records there is great reason to doubt, although there are inscriptions on certain rude stone monuments in parts of Wales, as in the southeastern counties of Munster, Ireland, consisting of long and short lines, known as Ogamic characters, the antiquity of which is not well determined.

As far as deciphered these inscriptions throw no direct light on the origin of the Celtic race. Their spoken language, reduced to writing after the introduction of Christianity, is the only key of any importance to their origin. This plainly marks them as an early offshoot of the Aryan family, the common Asiatic stock from which all the western races of Europe have descended.

The descriptions left by the Romans of the aborigines of Britain at the time of the Roman conquest represent them as fierce, cruel barbarians. Neither Caesar's commentaries nor the writings of Tacitus and other historians of the period of the Roman domination convey evidence that the Britons had any knowledge of letters until the Roman and Greek characters were taught them. Neither do these historians preserve any oral traditions of the British bards or druids which might shed light on the early history of the Celtic race.

REMARKABLE PETITION ADDED TO GREAT STACK OF DOCUMENTS

FILED WITH GOVERNOR ALVIN T. FULLER OF MASSACHUSETTS

Boston, May 5—(UP)—A remarkable petition signed Bartolomeo Vanzetti asking "not for mercy but for justice" for him and Nicola Sacco today had been added to the great stack of documents before Governor Alvin T. Fuller.

The governor is asked to order an investigation of the conviction of the fishmonger and shoemaker on charges of murdering two men in a payroll robbery in South Braintree, Mass.

With Vanzetti's petition were filed six affidavits charging Judge Webster Thayer, before whom Sacco and Vanzetti were tried, with grave offenses against judicial ethics.

Sacco did not sign the petition. He had become convinced, attorneys for the men explained, that it would be against his beliefs and principles as an anarchist to ask the governor to intervene to save him from death. Seven years of imprisonment for a crime he denies have reduced him to a condition of discouragement, and he no longer cares to fight for life, it was said. But the petition spoke for both, and the governor was asked to consider it as coming from both.

The appeal was some 7,000 words long. It was written by Vanzetti himself, almost entirely. At times it is dramatic in its language. At other times the halting knowledge of English possessed by the writer caused the meanings to be obscure, but such instances only accentuated the drama of the appeal.

It represented what may be the last word a man condemned to die may be able to say in a desperate effort to save himself.

The document reaffirms the faith of the petitioner in the philosophy of anarchy which is described as aimed to promote human progress and eliminate all forms of violence and oppression.

"For this cause we are willing to suffer and die but not for the low and sordid South Braintree crime," it dramatically asserts.

Vanzetti recited again the often-repeated charges of prejudicial rulings by the judge, of bias, of unfair exhibitions of contempt toward counsel for the defense.

The six affidavits charged Judge Thayer with commenting on the case vindictively outside the court room while the strike was in progress. They were signed by Robert Benchley, dramatic editor of "Life," George U. Crocker, Boston newspaperman; Mrs. Louis B. Rantoul, sociologist; and Elizabeth Bernkopf, Frank B. Sibley and John Nicholas Beffel, newspapermen.

"We had nothing to do with the South Braintree murder," the petition continued. "Our instinets abhor and our principles condemn such a crime."

WEST OAK LAWN

Mr. and Mrs. Nicely of Brainerd and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Schwringer of Brainerd were visitors at E. Laughton's at east Oak street Sunday.

The Willing Oak Leaves sewing club met at Edward Nelson's Friday evening. Mrs. H. Congdon and Mrs. Strong were reappointed leaders for the project which will be taken up this summer. A dainty lunch was served after the meeting.

Mrs. Ralph Tenny of Minneapolis arrived Monday to visit this week, at the home of H. Congdon's, Mr. Congdon being her brother.

Leonard Sorsveen of Minneapolis visited Saturday and Sunday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Sorsveen. He returned to the cities Monday morning.

Florence Tenney and Florence Leiri motored down from Superior Saturday to visit at the home of H. Congdon's.

NEW ULM TO WELCOME THE GERMAN ENVOY

BARON VON MALTZAN TO VISIT THE COMMUNITY FRIDAY

HUGE DEMONSTRATION BEING PLANNED IN THE CITY

New Ulm, Minn., May 5.—(UP)—This community which has for most of its population persons of German descent and many who spent their younger life in the foreign country, is preparing to welcome Baron Von Maltzan, German ambassador to the United States, Friday.

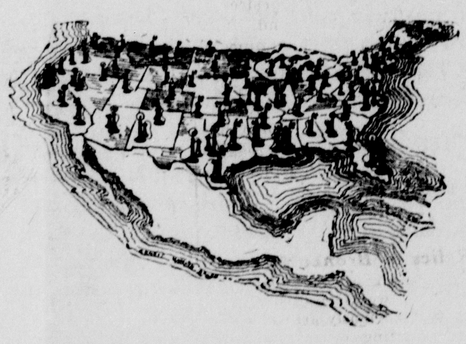

New Ulm is known as one of the largest centers of German life in Minnesota. A huge demonstration is being planned.

The ambassador is in Minneapolis today as guest of organizations in that city. Reports here of a successful reception accorded the dignitary upon his arrival in St. Paul on Wednesday have spurred residents here to greater efforts to make his visit to New Ulm noteworthy.

From New Ulm Baron Adolph Von Maltzan will go to St. Cloud and Collegeville where plans are also under way for receiving the foreign diplomat.

Stormy Body of Water

Euxine was the ancient name for the Black sea in southern Russia and connected with the Mediterranean sea by the Bosphorus, the sea of Marmora and the Dardanelles. Euxine, a Greek word, means inhospitable, and the sea was so-called because of its treacherous weather and sudden and severe storms.

Standardization in Service

THE manufacturing of equipment for the Bell System was one of the earliest, and is now among the outstanding examples of the standardization and quantity production which are distinctive characteristics of American industry.

Quantity production for the nation-wide Bell System makes it possible to put into every item of telephone equipment better material and better workmanship, at a lower cost to the telephone user, than could otherwise be done. But the dominant advantage of uniform manufacturing, under standard specifications, lies in the improvement of the service.

Every transmitter in the System is designed to work in harmony with every receiver all over the land and to co-ordinate with all the complicated equipment and lines behind. All can function at full efficiency for they are designed and manufactured for that purpose. Standardization, not only of equipment but of operating methods, is the only basis upon which it would be possible adequately to meet America's need of a nation-wide, universal telephone service.

Have you tried the New Energee DETONOX Gasoline?

MOTORISTS who have tried the new Energee DETONOX Gasoline, introduced Monday by The Pure Oil Company, realize that it has set new standards of motor performance. Backed by thirty years' experience in petroleum refining, Pure Oil chemists and engineers have finally perfected a motor gasoline with all of the wanted qualities.

Energee Gasoline, marketed for years by The Pure Oil Company, is favorably known as a premium motor gasoline and well worth the few cents more it costs.

The new Energee DETONOX Gasoline is even better. It has all of the good qualities of the old Energee—plus. You will find it superior to any other motor fuel now available. Yet it is no higher in price than the old Energee Gasoline.

Why Energee DETONOX is a superior gasoline:

[1] Non-detonating. Energee DETONOX eliminates detonation, that too-sudden explosion of certain elements found in ordinary gasolines. Detonation racks your motor and causes loss of power. You recognize it when your car knocks or "pings." Energee DETONOX is a non-detonating gasoline which at the same time retains all other desirable qualities of a motor fuel.

[2] Instant Starting. Energee DETONOX Gasoline gives touch-and-go starting, in any weather. Never before has there been a motor fuel requiring so little use of the choke. That means less dilution of oil in your crankcase, less carbon, less drain on your battery and a saving of gasoline. Energee DETONOX fires quickly because it vaporizes quickly and completely, at all times.

[3] Lightning Acceleration. Under trying traffic conditions Energee DETONOX Gasoline again proves its worth. In this new motor fuel there is ready speed to pass the trolley or to swing ahead—quickly and safely—into that open space further up the line. You'll have pick-up power in the pinches with Energee DETONOX.

[4] Giant Power. For the steep hill, the heavy load, the long drag, Energee DETONOX Gasoline will give you the power you need. And smooth power, too—more like the steady urge of steam than the vibrating blows of ordinary gasoline.

[5] More Miles. You will get more miles per gallon with Energee DETONOX. And without sacrifice to quick starting, too.

[6] Clean Burning. Energee DETONOX Gasoline burns cleanly because it vaporizes completely into the correct dry mixture for maximum power. This new motor fuel hinders harmful carbon deposits.

[7] A Pure Product. Energee DETONOX is not a "blended" gasoline, neither does it contain casing head gasoline. It will not corrode your motor. It is pure gasoline with nothing added except a harmless red coloring matter for identification and your protection against substitution. The non-detonating characteristic of Energee DETONOX Gasoline is due to a special Pure Oil Company refining process only.

Energee DETONOX Gasoline is sold by Authorized Pure Oil Distributors

From the famous photoplay, "The Magic Garden."

THE STORY SO FAR

Amaryllis Minton, whose parents are not interested in her, runs away in search of happiness. She finds it in a wonderful garden, and finds, too, a boy who is willing to play with her, who teaches her games, and who learns to love her. He agrees to hide her till her family shall have learned to miss her, and so Amaryllis is happy for the first time in her life. She has a wonderful time in the old garden, and she, too, loves the handsome boy who is so kind to her. He plays the "Amaryllis Waltz" and Amaryllis dances for him. They are both as happy as the wind. Meanwhile back in the city Paul Minton, her father, is beginning to feel the pain of remorse, and sets the police machinery in motion.

"And you are taking such good care of the boy that you can guarantee that there is no chance of anything happening to him?" asked the friend.

Paul Minton stopped and ran his hands through his hair and stared at the man.

"No!" he said. "I'm not taking care of him! I am sending the checks for running the establishment that his grandfather's will and the court specified he was to live in. I have no more idea than you have where he is or what he is doing this minute. Heaven knows I've been anything but the kind of a father that a man should be when he takes the responsibility of bringing children, of his blood, bearing his name, into the world."

"How old was your little girl?" asked one of his friends.

Minton answered: "Just a little over five, if I remember rightly, and for the love of Heaven, don't say was!"

"Is she pretty?" queried the friend.

Paul Minton stopped and tried to remember. Suddenly there danced before him a vision of gold curls and blue eyes and pink cheeks, and he answered in a hushed, stricken voice: "Yes! perfectly beautiful! A perfectly beautiful little thing! I'd say she is lovely!"

"And I suppose from the clothes she wore, the car she rode in, with your monogram on the door very likely, that whatever bandit took her will hold her for a good stiff ransom."

Minton licked his dry lips.

"How soon could a body reasonably expect an offer to come?" he asked. "Get the Chief of Police on the wire. Tell him it doesn't make any difference what they ask. Tell him to say that they can have everything I've got. I'll start over again, if they bring back the baby safely and give me another chance."

So the friend went to the telephone and called the Chief of Police and told him precisely that.

* * * * *

Morning came lovingly, out in the house surrounded by the old orchard and touched into glory the garden of magic. Amaryllis awoke and before she lifted her head from the pillow she remembered right where she was. She remembered what a good time yesterday had been, so she sat up on the edge of the bed and called for Marie at the top of her voice. Marie could not have been far away because she came very quickly, and in no time the child was dressed again in the clothing she had worn yesterday. Then she had her breakfast and was out in the garden ready to play with the marvelous boy again.

There never could have been another such a boy in all the world. First they put fresh water into the glasses and a little salt to keep the lady dolls on the back porch in nice shape. Then they chased butterflies and looked through a glass that made their wings so big that all the millions of little feathers on them showed. Then they went down to the brook and Amaryllis sat on the bank and fished. She held a long alder shoot with a fine line on it and a bent pin-hook with a little worm in the water, and silver sides dotted with red paint and speckles on its nose. She shouted with laughter. The sun shone again that day and the birds sang happier because she was so happy. When she was tired fishing they put the little fish back in the water and let it go home, and hand in hand, they went on down the creek until they were hungry.

By then it was noon and they went back through the garden for food. After lunch Amaryllis went to sleep in an old hammock in the back yard. The boy swayed it gently and she slept a long time. When she wakened she had the best orange she had ever tasted. Then she and the boy started out through the meadow to make friends with the sheep and with a cow that lived there, and to see how many different flowers they could find. Sometimes they played Indians and the boy hid behind the bushes and Amaryllis came down the path, a little happy girl dancing in the sunshine. He jumped out and caught her, looking very fierce and warlike. She was supposed to cry and be afraid. But she was not a bit afraid at being caught by John Guido, because she threw her arms around his neck and hugged him tight every time he caught her. Sometimes she hid in ambush and caught him when he came past, but no matter who was the Indian, nor how fierce the capture, the captivity always ended in a kiss.

So they played on until supper time, a whole long, glorious day. Many times they sat down and talked for a long, long time. Amaryllis told the boy about the long, long days at home, and about the chauffeur who kept the dog and the pony, and about the butler who opened the front door like a footman and about the cook and the governess and the nurse-maid and all the people who made up the family that had no mother. The boy grew troubled and he looked more sober every minute.

He said to her: "Amaryllis, I'm afraid you're awfully rich."

Amaryllis said: "No," she did not think she was. She thought she was very poor. She thought she was a little girl who was left behind the big bronze gates because there was not enough money to take her along when her mother went across the water in a big boat, or else she surely would have taken her. The boy thought about that a while, and he did not know what to think because he could not quite imagine a mother who could go away and leave such a little sweet-smelling, blue-eyed, adorable thing as Amaryllis.

That night he played again in the garden and Amaryllis danced before the red lilies. Then she went to bed. While Marie undressed her, the boy waited outside the window. When she was all ready to go to sleep in one of his nighties with the sleeves rolled up and pinned closer at the neck, she came to the window and he taught her the next two lines of his prayer.

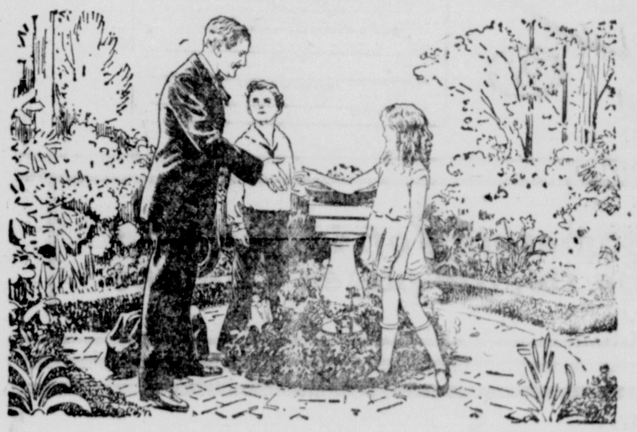

"Keep me safely through the star-shine. Make a loving heart of mine—"

Without a bit of help she remembered the first two lines.

Then Amaryllis went to sleep; went to sleep with the feel of hugs, tight hugs, around her body and the feel of warm kisses on her lips and on her hair and her cheeks. It was wonderful, more wonderful than anything that ever had happened to her in all the world. It was so wonderful that she was restless in the night and tossed a bit and moaned because she was so afraid that the policeman might come and take her home, just as policemen did come and take lost children back to their homes every once in a while.

"Keep me safely through the star-shine."

But it was not the policeman who came about ten o'clock the following morning. It was the boy's father. Walked right in, all unexpectedly. A big, tall man with bright blue eyes, and pink cheeks, and hair nearly as yellow as the hair on Amaryllis' head. The very minute he saw Amaryllis, and the very minute he heard ten words, he said sternly: "But this will not do at all! There will be people somewhere who are frantic about her. Her mother probably will be half insane."

It was the boy's father, come home.

AN ATTRACTIVE KITCHEN INSPIRES THE COOK!

(Editor's Note: This is one of an unusual series of cooking articles by 6 famous cooks, running exclusively in this paper.)

What fascinating places some kitchens are! Bright and attractive, they literally inspire their owners to better cooking deeds. Every housewife owes herself a well-lighted, cheery kitchen. For she spends more time in the kitchen than any other place.

MISS ROSA MICHAELIS

Gray Kitchens

Gray kitchens are very popular these days. In fact, they are more in favor than white ones. That's because they are almost as light as white kitchens, and so very much easier to keep clean. White shows every fingermark.

One of the most attractive kitchens has gray walls, woodwork, kitchen cabinet, cupboards and shelves. All are painted a glossy gray which can be quickly washed with a damp cloth. Fresh white curtains bordered in pink are at the wide windows. And a neat linoleum, black and gray squared, covers the floor.

A Rest Corner

Stove, table, high work stool and cabinet are grouped for easy work—to save steps. And in one part of the kitchen is the housewife's rest corner—a rocking chair and table with reading matter. Many a "rest minute" can be snatched while meals are cooking.

Truly, such a kitchen is a happy place in which to work. And, isn't it true that the housewife's happiness is reflected in better meals?

In such a kitchen as the one just described, the work is so much easier that the housewife is often inspired to make new dishes—a change from the regular round of meat and potatoes.

Miss Rosa Michaelis, New Orleans cooking expert, today gives several delightful recipes of the "inspirational" type.

Vanilla Wafer Pudding

1 cup sugar
2 eggs
1 cup milk
3 tablespoons flour
3 tablespoons butter
2 bananas
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
vanilla wafers

Make a custard of all the ingredients but the wafers, in a double boiler. Line bottom of baking dish with wafers. Add a layer of sliced bananas. Pour half the custard over them. Add bananas, and rest of custard. Beat egg whites stiff and place on top. Put in oven and brown.

---

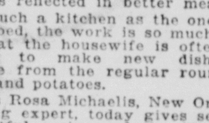

You will find many advantages in the latest development in oil stove cabinets. One of the best has the ends cut away to allow the oven to rest on a single burner when desired. It also has a perforated top shelf. Warm air from the stove comes up through the holes and keeps warm any food which is placed there.

Cocoanut Dainties

These are nice to serve at parties.

2 whites of eggs
¼ cup corn syrup
½ cup flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
⅛ teaspoon salt
2 cups dry cocoanut
1 teaspoon vanilla

Beat the whites stiff, gradually add the corn syrup, then fold in the sifted flour, cocoanut, salt and vanilla. Drop by tablespoons on greased baking sheet and bake in moderate oven twenty minutes.

Skyline Walnut Wafers

You can make these at the same time as the cocoanut dainties, for they require the same baking time. Mrs. Belle DeGraf, famous San Francisco cooking authority, gives the following recipe:

1 cup brown sugar
1 cup broken walnut meats
¼ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons flour
1 egg, beaten

Mix ingredients in order given. Drop from teaspoon on greased cookie sheet several inches apart to allow for spreading. Bake in a very moderate oven and remove from sheet at once.

Sweet Potato Pone

This is a favorite Southern dish. Here's Miss Michaelis' recipe.

4 large sweet potatoes
¾ cup brown sugar
4 eggs
grated rind of lemon
1 cup milk
½ cup butter
½ teaspoon each of nutmeg, ground cloves and cinnamon
¾ cup molasses

Wash and grate the potatoes. Beat the eggs well; stir the butter and sugar till creamy; add the eggs, then grated potatoes and spices, also milk. Beat all well together, add lemon rind. Put into a well buttered pan, and bake slowly for an hour.

May be served either warm or cold. Usually cut in slices.

THE STORY SO FAR

Amaryllis Minton, whose parents are not interested in her, runs away in search of happiness. She finds it in a wonderful garden, and finds, too, a boy who is willing to play with her, who teaches her games, and who learns to love her. He agrees to hide her till her family shall have learned to miss her, and so Amaryllis is happy for the first time in her life. She has a wonderful time in the old garden, and she, too, loves the handsome boy who is so kind to her. He plays the "Amaryllis Waltz" and Amaryllis dances for him. They are both as happy as the wind. Meanwhile back in the city Paul Minton, her father, is beginning to feel the pain of remorse, and sets the police machinery in motion.

"And you are taking such good care of the boy that you can guarantee that there is no chance of anything happening to him?" asked the friend.

Paul Minton stopped and ran his hands through his hair and stared at the man.

"No!" he said. "I'm not taking care of him! I am sending the checks for running the establishment that his grandfather's will and the court specified he was to live in. I have no more idea than you have where he is or what he is doing this minute. Heaven knows I've been anything but the kind of a father that a man should be when he takes the responsibility of bringing children, of his blood, bearing his name, into the world."

It was the boy's father, come home.

"How old was your little girl?" asked one of his friends.

Minton answered: "Just a little over five, if I remember rightly, and for the love of Heaven, don't say was!"

"Is she pretty?" queried the friend.

Paul Minton stopped and tried to remember. Suddenly there danced before him a vision of gold curls and blue eyes and pink cheeks, and he answered in a hushed, stricken voice: "Yes! perfectly beautiful! A perfectly beautiful little thing! I'd say she is lovely!"

"And I suppose from the clothes she wore, the car she rode in, with your monogram on the door very likely, that whatever bandit took her will hold her for a good stiff ransom."

Minton licked his dry lips.

"How soon could a body reasonably expect an offer to come?" he asked. "Get the Chief of Police on the wire. Tell him it doesn't make any difference what they ask. Tell him to say that they can have everything I've got. I'll start over again, if they bring back the baby safely and give me another chance."

So the friend went to the telephone and called the Chief of Police and told him precisely that.

• • • • • •

Morning came lovingly, out in the house surrounded by the old orchard and touched into glory the garden of magic. Amaryllis awoke and before she lifted her head from the pillow she remembered right where she was. She remembered what a good time yesterday had been, so she sat up on the edge of the bed and called for Marie at the top of her voice. Marie could not have been far away because she came very quickly, and in no time the child was dressed again in the clothing she had worn yesterday. Then she had her breakfast and was out in the garden ready to play with the marvelous boy again.

There never could have been another such a boy in all the world. First they put fresh water into the glasses and a little salt to keep the lady dolls on the back porch in nice shape. Then they chased butterflies and looked through a glass that made their wings so big that all the millions of little feathers on them showed. Then they went down to the brook and Amaryllis sat on the bank and fished. She held a long alder shoot with a fine line on it and a bent pin-hook with a little worm in the water, and caught one of the shiny fish with silver sides dotted with red paint and speckles on its nose. She shouted with laughter. The sun shone again that day and the birds sang happier because she was so happy. When she was tired fishing they put the little fish back in the water and let it go home, and hand in hand, they went on down the creek until they were hungry.

By then it was noon and they went back through the garden for food. After lunch Amaryllis went to sleep in an old hammock in the back yard. The boy swayed it gently and she slept a long time. When she wakened she had the best orange she had ever tasted. Then she and the boy started out through the meadow to make friends with the sheep and with a cow that lived there, and to see how many different flowers they could find. Sometimes they played Indians and the boy hid behind the bushes and Amaryllis came down the path, a little happy girl dancing in the sunshine. He jumped out and caught her, looking very fierce and warlike. She was supposed to cry and be afraid. But she was not a bit afraid at being caught by John Guido, because she threw her arms around his neck and hugged him tight every time he caught her. Sometimes she hid in ambush and caught him when he came past, but no matter who was the Indian, nor how fierce the capture, the captivity always ended in a kiss.

So they played on until supper time, a whole long, glorious day. Many times they sat down and talked for a long, long time. Amaryllis told the boy about the long, long days at home, and about the chauffeur who kept the dog and the pony, and about the butler who opened the front door like a footman and about the cook and the governess and the nurse-maid and all the people who made up the family that had no mother. The boy grew troubled and he looked more sober every minute.

He said to her: "Amaryllis, I'm afraid you're awfully rich."

Amaryllis said: "No," she did not think she was. She thought she was very poor. She thought she was a little girl who was left behind the big bronze gates because there was not enough money to take her along when her mother went across the water in a big boat, or else she surely would have taken her. The boy thought about that a while, and he did not know what to think because he could not quite imagine a mother who could go away and leave such a little sweet-smelling, blue-eyed, adorable thing as Amaryllis.

That night he played again in the garden and Amaryllis danced before the red lilies. Then she went to bed. While Marie undressed her, the boy waited outside the window. When she was all ready to go to sleep in one of his nighties with the sleeves rolled up and pinned closer at the neck, she came to the window and he taught her the next two lines of his prayer.

"Keep me safely through the star-shine. Make a loving heart of mine—"

Without a bit of help she remembered the first two lines.

Then Amaryllis went to sleep; went to sleep with the feel of hugs, tight hugs, around her body and the feel of warm kisses on her lips and on her hair and her cheeks. It was wonderful, more wonderful than anything that ever had happened to her in all the world. It was so wonderful that she was restless in the night and tossed a bit and moaned because she was so afraid that the policeman might come and take her home, just as policemen did come and take lost children back to their homes every once in a while.

"Keep me safely through the star-shine."

But it was not the policeman who came about ten o'clock the following morning. It was the boy's father. Walked right in, all unexpectedly. A big, tall man with bright blue eyes, and pink cheeks, and hair nearly as yellow as the hair on Amaryllis' head. The very minute he saw Amaryllis, and the very minute he heard ten words, he said sternly: "But this will not do at all! There will be people somewhere who are frantic about her. Her mother probably will be half insane."

TWO BANDITS IN THE ANOKA SHOOTING TAKEN

HAD WOUNDED ED TURNER IN GUN BATTLE ON HIS FARM

NOW HELD IN ANOKA COUNTY COUNTY JAIL, BELIEVED INVOLVED IN TIRE THEFTS

Anoka, Minn., May 5.—(UP) — Two bandits who eluded a pursuing posse since Wednesday morning after wounding Ed Turner in a gun battle on his farm near Elk River were captured today by Sheriff U. S. Pratt and one deputy. They are held in the Anoka county jail here.

Sheriff Pratt is positive they are members of a gang that stole two automobile loads of tires from a supply house at Zimmerman, Minn.

The two men under arrest, Sheriff Pratt said, left their place of hiding in the woods near Elk River this morning and obtained an automobile ride with the driver of a mill truck to Onawa Park, near Minneapolis, where the capture was effected.

The sheriff and one assistant traced the route of the escaped bandits to the park and surprised them when the pair walked out onto Highway No. 1 No resistance was offered.

One of the bandits wore an overcoat which made possible quick recognizance of the hunted men. One of them is about 40 years old and the other ten years younger. They are being questioned by Sheriff Pratt.

No trace has yet been found of the three bandits still at large.

---

Elk River, Minn., May 5. — Ed Turner, farmer, who was wounded when he resisted attempts by two bandits to steal his automobile, is recuperating at his home and thanking fate that the pair did their shooting with .22 calibre rifles.

Turned used a shotgun to protect himself and forced the bandits into a field, thereby aiding authorities in their capture of the hunted men today.

Examination of the wound revealed that Turner was shot in the chest by the small calibre rifles.

The bold robbers walked onto his farm and started his automobile but the owner ran out of his home and started firing with his shotgun. Immediately following the shooting a large posse of sheriffs, deputies and private citizens of this section went into the woods after them.

Most of them gave up the hunt but Sheriff U. S. Pratt continued his efforts until he had completed his work by tracing the men to Onawa Park today, where they were arrested.

Turner is a veteran farmer and does not intend to lose his property of any sort. He says he will continue to use his shotgun if necessary.

"Scarlet Letter" a Magnet for Fans

Big houses are greeting every showing of "The Scarlet Letter," Lillian Gish's latest starring vehicle, at the Lyceum Theatre, where the elaborate production of Nathaniel Hawthorne's dramatic tale is being hailed as one of the remarkable picture successes of the season.

The story features Miss Gish in the tragic role of a Puritan woman, who, to shield from the intolerance of the Puritans the man she loves, wears a letter of shame on her breast throughout a lifetime. It affords the famous star one of the most appealing and heart-gripping roles in her entire career.

Lars Hanson, famous Swedish star, makes his American debut in the new picture as Miss Gish's leading man and Henry B. Walthall, the "Little Colonel" of "The Birth of a Nation" is playing with Miss Gish for the first time since that memorable production.

Brawn, muscle and splendid health that nature gives to us cannot withstand the terrible strain and stress of modern living. But health can be regained and protected against attack. Andrew Loucks, a well-known Stewartville, Minnesota, citizen, a member of the Pleasant Grove Lodge of Masons, says: "Tanlac has made me feel as if I could go out on the farm and do a big day's work.

"I was greatly troubled with my stomach. And at times indigestion would be so bad that I would have vomiting spells followed by cramps. I was restless and my condition shattered my nerves. At night I would toss and turn waiting for sleep that never came. Often I was so dizzy I could not keep my balance. I was getting weaker every day when I decided to take Tanlac.

"After the first bottle I noticed a great deal of improvement. I am on my fifth bottle now and am enjoying good health. I eat everything with a ravenous appetite. I have gained 12 pounds. Indigestion never troubles me; neither do dizzy spells. Tanlac has made me feel years younger."

Banish sickness and sufferings from your life. Benefit by the experience of others. Tanlac made from roots, barks and herbs according to the famous Tanlac formula, usually builds up weak, scrawny bodies, relieves suffering, restores good health. First bottle shows amazing results. At druggists. More than 40 million bottles sold.

HAD WOUNDED ED TURNER IN GUN BATTLE ON HIS FARM

NOW HELD IN ANOKA COUNTY COUNTY JAIL, BELIEVED INVOLVED IN TIRE THEFTS

Anoka, Minn., May 5.—(UP)—Two bandits who eluded a pursuing posse since Wednesday morning after wounding Ed Turner in a gun battle on his farm near Elk River were captured today by Sheriff U. S. Pratt and one deputy. They are held in the Anoka county jail here.

Sheriff Pratt is positive they are members of a gang that stole two automobile loads of tires from a supply house at Zimmerman, Minn.

The two men under arrest, Sheriff Pratt said, left their place of hiding in the woods near Elk River this morning and obtained an automobile ride with the driver of a mill truck to Onawa Park, near Minneapolis, where the capture was effected.

The sheriff and one assistant traced the route of the escaped bandits to the park and surprised them when the pair walked out onto Highway No. 1 No resistance was offered.

One of the bandits wore an overcoat which made possible quick recognizance of the hunted men. One of them is about 40 years old and the other ten years younger. They are being questioned by Sheriff Pratt.

No trace has yet been found of the three bandits still at large.

---

Elk River, Minn., May 5. — Ed Turner, farmer, who was wounded when he resisted attempts by two bandits to steal his automobile, is recuperating at his home and thanking fate that the pair did their shooting with .22 calibre rifles.

Turned used a shotgun to protect himself and forced the bandits into a field, thereby aiding authorities in their capture of the hunted men today.

Examination of the wound revealed that Turner was shot in the chest by the small calibre rifles.

The bold robbers walked onto his farm and started his automobile but the owner ran out of his home and started firing with his shotgun. Immediately following the shooting a large posse of sheriffs, deputies and private citizens of this section went into the woods after them.

Most of them gave up the hunt but Sheriff U. S. Pratt continued his efforts until he had completed his work by tracing the men to Onawa Park today, where they were arrested.

Turner is a veteran farmer and does not intend to lose his property of any sort. He says he will continue to use his shotgun if necessary.

"Scarlet Letter" a Magnet for Fans

Big houses are greeting every showing of "The Scarlet Letter," Lillian Gish's latest starring vehicle, at the Lyceum Theatre, where the elaborate production of Nathaniel Hawthorne's dramatic tale is being hailed as one of the remarkable picture successes of the season.

The story features Miss Gish in the tragic role of a Puritan woman, who, to shield from the intolerance of the Puritans the man she loves, wears a letter of shame on her breast throughout a lifetime. It affords the famous star one of the most appealing and heart-gripping roles in her entire career.

Lars Hanson, famous Swedish star, makes his American debut in the new picture as Miss Gish's leading man and Henry B. Walthall, the "Little Colonel" of "The Birth of a Nation" is playing with Miss Gish for the first time since that memorable production.

Coloring Electric Globes

Electric incandescent globes may be easily colored by dipping globes into a solution of collodion, previously colored to suit, with aniline soluble in collodion. Dip and rotate quickly. bulbs down, until dry.

Calories

A calory is the amount of heat required to raise the temperature of one gram of water one degree centigrade. In dietetics a calory is a unit to indicate heat or energy producing value of food.

Poisonous Upas Tree

Upas is the name given to various species of trees found in Java and other islands of the Eastern archipelago. From these trees ooze a poisonous gum, used by the natives for tipping their arrows. The tales of the deadly effect of this tree on plants and animals in its vicinity are largely fictitious.

Language All Their Own

The wandering tinkers of the north of England speak "Shelta," a survival of the Anglo-Saxon language entirely unintelligible to the average Englishman.

JOHN CARLSON & SON

Well-Known Mason Restored to Good Health

Victim of Dizziness, Indigestion, Loss of Strength, Retired Farmer Restored to Health by Tanlac. Gains 12 Pounds

Brawn, muscle and splendid health that nature gives to us cannot withstand the terrible strain and stress of modern living. But health can be regained and protected against attack. Andrew Loucks, a well-known Stewartville, Minnesota, citizen, a member of the Pleasant Grove Lodge of Masons, says: "Tanlac has made me feel as if I could go out on the farm and do a big day's work.

"I was greatly troubled with my stomach. And at times indigestion would be so bad that I would have vomiting spells followed by cramps. I was restless and my condition shattered my nerves. At night I would toss and turn waiting for sleep that never came. Often I was so dizzy I could not keep my balance. I was getting weaker every day when I decided to take Tanlac.

"After the first bottle I noticed a great deal of improvement. I am on my fifth bottle now and am enjoying good health. I eat everything with a ravenous appetite. I have gained 12 pounds. Indigestion never troubles me; neither do dizzy spells. Tanlac has made me feel years younger."

Banish sickness and sufferings from your life. Benefit by the experience of others. Tanlac made from roots, barks and herbs according to the famous Tanlac formula, usually builds up weak, scrawny bodies, relieves suffering, restores good health. First bottle shows amazing results. At druggists. More than 40 million bottles sold.
